Manett, indicted on two counts, receives 5 to 10 years; Harris pleads to assault

Gibson Has Praise

Man arrested for assault at Eddyville compliments jail staff

Leo Mannett of Blomington, Sullivan county, was sentenced to a term of from five to 10 years at Clinton State Prison, Dannemora and Lewis C. Harris, colored, of Malden was given from two to four years at the same institution following the report of the September grand jury yesterday afternoon.

Twenty-six indictments, including 20 open and six sealed, were handed up and the jury recommended eight dismissals. Several other defendants were given lesser sentences in the Ulster Reformatory and in the Ulster county jail.

Manett was charged with forgery, second degree, in two counts, and he was listed as a former offender. Harris was charged with second degree assault and had also been in court on a former charge.

One Charge Dropped

In the cases of Julia R. Brown, forged second degree, arising out of a transaction at the Kramor Shop in this city, no bill was found. She, however, was indicted for another similar offense. No bill was found against Erskine T. Brown, held for grand larceny second degree, at the request of complainant. There was no bill in the case of Ethel May Hook of Ellenville, arson, third degree.

In the case of James Barry, held for grand larceny second degree, no bill was found at request of complainant and a similar action was taken in the case of Salvatore Colella, held for grand larceny, second degree.

At the written request of the complainant in the Max Diamond assault second degree case no bill was found. No bill was found against James Manfro, assault, second degree, at the request of complainant, and John Rosca, charged with resisting an officer, was not indicted. At the request of Mr. Murray bail was cancelled and the defendant in custody were ordered discharged by Judge Wilson.

Two Counts Given

Julia R. Brown of New Rochelle was indicted in two bills, each charging forgery, second degree, on June 10, last. Each indictment contained two counts and charged the giving of bad checks, one at the Faye grill and one at Greenwalds. William H. Grogan appeared for Mrs. Brown and a plea of not guilty was entered.

James Miller of this city was indicted for grand larceny, second degree, for taking a sum of money on August 2 from the safe of Clark and Davis, lumber dealers on Washington avenue. It was charged that while about the place he waited until the office was left alone and then removed a sum of cash from the safe which was open. District Attorney Murray said that the grand jury had recommended that leniency be shown the defendant and on his plea of guilty, District Attorney Murray said he would accept a plea of guilty to unlawful entry from the youth. He said also the lad needed careful supervision and among the things he asked the judge to do for the lad was to send him every Sunday to Sunday School. There the boy would make proper associations. At the suggestion of Mr. Murray, Judge Wilson placed the lad on probation for one year and told him he must be in Sunday School every week.

For His Girl

George Dutcher, 27, of Kingston, pleaded guilty to grand larceny, second degree, alleged to have taken place on June 22. Dutcher said he was in need of money to make an impression on his girl and he took the money to buy a car and radio. Dutcher (Continued on Page 14)

Status Studied

Lawyers Seeking Whether Laymen Are Appearing Against Practice Rules

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—New York lawyers studied today governmental boards and agencies to determine whether appearance of laymen before them constitutes "the practice of law."

"We want to ascertain how extensively claimants are represented before any such agencies," said Fred L. Gross, New York State Bar Association president, "and whether the solicitation seemingly authorized by statute" is "actually constituting practicing law."

Gross announced appointment of a committee to investigate. He named the workmen's compensation, zoning regulation and labor relations boards as the type of agencies involved.

Battle Begins

With a 1-in-10 chance of living, Dorothy Lewis, 8, (above) managed a faint smile in a New York hospital after her right leg had been amputated because of a cancerous condition. Her father, after nine anguished months of hoping to avoid the operation, finally bowed to the inevitable and ordered it performed to save Dorothy's life.

Legionnaires Name Raymond J. Kelly As National Leader

Detroit Corporation Counsel Will Command for Year; Session Advocates Against Reds

Chicago, Sept. 28 (AP)—Raymond J. Kelly, corporation counsel of Detroit, was elected national commander of the American Legion today.

Kelly was chosen unanimously to succeed Stephen F. Chadwick of Seattle, after two other contenders for the office had withdrawn. The new chief of the organization of 1,026,084 ex-service men has been head of Detroit's legal department since 1933. He worked his way through the universities of Notre Dame and Detroit and served 10 months overseas during the world war as a lieutenant in the artillery.

"Outlaw" Legislation

Legislation to outlaw "the Communist Party, the German Bund and similar organizations," was advocated today by the American Legion.

Delegates attending the final session of the 21st national convention approved the report of the Americanism committee urging such action.

The pronouncement also asked continuation of the Dies committee investigating un-American activities, suggested registration of aliens and requested the Legion (Continued on Page 21)

Senators Suggest Defense Resurvey

Connally, Wagner Request Thorough Study Be Made

Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—Two Democratic senators—Connally of Texas and Wagner of New York—suggested today that the nation's defenses be resurveyed at once to determine whether they are adequate to meet any threat to American security.

Connally, a member of the Senate foreign relations committee, told reporters an additional $1,000,000,000 for the already-expanded army and navy could be well spent.

Wagner agreed that there should be "a more thorough study of the adequacy of our defenses," saying it was essential that "our country be in a position to defend itself under all circumstances."

From Senator Ellender (D., La.), a member of the naval committee, came a statement that the navy "undoubtedly is reexamining its defense equipment."

"Before I vote one more penny," remarked Senator Nye (R., N. D.), "I want to know where they are getting with the money already appropriated. I understand some American industries, notably the aircraft industry, are so busy supplying foreign orders that they haven't time to fill American orders."

Will Make Visits

Seattle, Sept. 28 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will fly west next week to visit members of her family, says the Post-Intelligencer, of which her son-in-law, John Boettiger, is publisher. The first lady plans to arrive Monday for a brief stay with the Boettigers and her three grandchildren, then fly to Los Angeles, visit her son, James, and family, and to Fort Worth, Tex., to see the Elliott Roosevelts.

Airman Gives Sad Picture of Ruined Capital of Poland

Flight Officer Tells How Starvation, Fires, Death Make Horrible Sight of Warsaw

Dead Are Buried

Says Civilians Creep From Cellars During Lulls to Bury Dead

Budapest, Sept. 28 (AP)—Except for sputtered signals, the wavelength of the Warsaw radio was silent today.

Apparently the station's epic tale was told, ended on the same defiant note it struck during the 20 days it told the outside world of German siege.

Its last message, broadcast at 3 p. m. (9 a. m. E. S. T.) yesterday, was a new challenge to the Nazi besiegers:

"We will never give in while one of us is alive."

But last night the Polish telegraph agency carried a dispatch, dated Warsaw, which indicated that defense of the Polish capital had been abandoned.

German announcements said the city had capitulated unconditionally and would surrender formally tomorrow.

Ruin and Tragedy

From the picture painted by the radio announcers and by a Polish army flier who escaped through a barrage of German shells, Warsaw gave up only after it had become a city of ruin and tragedy.

The flier, Lieut. Col. Mateus Izycki, who flew out of Poland last Monday told of an ever-deepening black pall of smoke over Warsaw.

He told of starvation, of incessant rumblings of siege guns, of civilians creeping from cellars during lulls in artillery fire and between air raids to bury their dead in parks and public places.

"From the air the city is a horrible sight," he said. "Hardly a building is intact."

"The city is ringed by six divisions of German soldiers whose artillery is pouring in shells unceasingly, aided by an average of 200 raiding planes a day."

"Warsaw is a city where from 40 to 60 new fires start daily from incendiary bombs. Only small fires can be handled; the big ones are left to burn."

"It is a city where priests say Mass in wrecked churches; a city of never-ending bedlam where heavy bombs go crashing through four or five floors and topple an entire building."

Some Life in Streets

"There's a No-Man's-Land strewn with dead men, women and horses. . . . There's some life in the streets, for the city must live, but old people and children never leave their cellar refuges."

Col. Izycki said Warsaw's defenders could rest "when the Germans took time out for lunch" but otherwise the bombardment was "steady and methodical, striking every section of the city."

"All hospitals have been hit or destroyed and practically all medical aid is administered on the spot. In many instances there was nothing to do but watch those die who were seriously wounded."

"At times the wounded had to be thrown from burning houses to the street below, even though they suffered additional broken bones."

Col. Izycki said the Poles found pamphlets on some captured Germans "promising them that by Christmas Nazi Propaganda Minister Goebbels would speak to them from London."

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—The position of the treasury September 26: Receipts, $6,359,222.99; expenditures, $14,300,223.52; net balance, $2,149,023.24.81; work-in-progress, included $1,453,531.28.65; customs receipts for month, $31,027,228.67; receipts for fiscal year (July 1), $1,408,605.152.61; expenditures, $2,330,250.392.97; excess of expenditures, $921,645,240.36; gross debt, $40,857,576,910.90; decrease under previous day, $7,282,589.35; gold assets, $16,924,697,052.15.

Rainfall Record

According to the records in the city engineer's office there was a precipitation of 1.47 inches of rain here during the storm which commenced about 11:15 o'clock Wednesday morning and ended about 8 o'clock last night. The storm was accompanied by a vivid display of lightning. So far this month the rain gauge on the roof of the city hall has recorded a total precipitation of 2.44 inches of rain.

Carloadings on Increase

Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Association of American Railroads reported today 814,828 cars of revenue freight were loaded during the week ending last Saturday. This was an increase of 3,095 cars, or 1.1 per cent, compared with the preceding week; an increase of 145,124, or 21.7 per cent, compared with a year ago, and a decrease of 22,057, or 2.6 per cent, compared with 1937.

Senate Foreign Relations Committee Approves Administration Neutrality Bill to Permit Sale of Armaments

Paris Expects Some Peace Overtures Before Week-End

Informed Persons Advance Belief Hitler Prepares Proposals Based on Polish Partition

Paris, Sept. 28 (AP)—Informed French quarters expressed belief today that Fuehrer Hitler was preparing to advance peace proposals, backed by the threat of a possible German-Soviet Russian military alliance and new Nazi troop concentrations in the west.

These sources said they would not be surprised if Hitler made representations to France and Britain before the week-end.

Such representations, it was expected, would ask the allies to recognize the German-Soviet partition of Poland and raise consideration of Germany's colonial demands.

Refusal to consider peace on this basis, observers declared, might be taken by Hitler as justifying before the world a "complete war" upon France and Britain—even to the extent, they said, of a dash through neutral countries in an effort to combat the British blockade. (Berlin officially has disavowed any such plan of attack.)

Both France and Britain have issued repeated official statements that there would be no peace until the Hitler regime was destroyed and Polish independence restored.

Regarding Von Ribbentrop

It was generally believed in Paris that German Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop's trip to Moscow—yesterday was planned by Hitler to create the impression that a German-Soviet military alliance is imminent.

Advices here said that hundreds of German pilots who saw active service in Spain and Poland were being rushed to the Siegfried Line, to augment thousands of infantrymen already withdrawn from the East.

Developments on the diplomatic front overshadowed reports of actual fighting, which was reported confined largely to artillery activity.

French infantry was said to have done little during the past few days except to take cover from heavy artillery fire.

Distiches said the French bombardment had definitely broken the Siegfried Line in some advance positions, and threats against the underground Maginot defenses were said to have been removed by early advances into German territory.

Says Attack Fails

A communique issued this morning by the general staff said the night was "calm," but added that "an enemy attack west of Saarbrücken failed."

French scouting planes were reported active during the night.

Yesterday, the communique said, French and British airmen, operating together, shot down "several" German planes in a battle over the lines.

While the war in the west is not yet a month old, reports published here said that the French and British were satisfied that their armaments were superior to Germany's.

The Nazi air force, it was said, had not lived up to expectations in battles over the Rhine and the northern end of the front.

Jefferson Has Only Faint Hope After Conviction for Killing Frances Dunn

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 28 (AP)—A bogus theatrical promoter who lured two movie-truck girls from Miami with promises of fame, and then killed one of them, looked with but faint hope today toward a Supreme Court appeal that might save him from the electric chair.

A circuit court jury of ten married men and two bachelors last night convicted Charles Jefferson, 29, on a charge of slaying 17-year-old Frances Dunn in a palm-tree thicket near the beach at Boca Raton last August 8.

The verdict of first degree murder without a recommendation of mercy made the death sentence mandatory, and Judge C. E. Chillingworth was expected to impose it this week.

Jefferson managed a weak smile when the jury returned the verdict after deliberating four hours and five minutes. While the jury was out he said he was

His Honor Grooms His Family

Mayor Addison Mallory of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., gave his family this joyous welcome home when they docked at New York aboard the liner Orizaba, specially chartered to bring home survivors of the Athenia sinking, and other Americans fleeing the European war. The mayor kisses Mrs. Mallory while their son, William, and Mrs. Catherine Scott, Mrs. Mallory's mother, look on.

Trade Inquiries Pouring Into U. S. From South America

Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—A new crew of commerce department business experts is sifting millions of dollars worth of trade inquiries from Latin America as a result of the European war.

Now that the war has virtually cut Germany off from some good South American customers and has occupied the industry of England and France with military orders, government experts argue that the United States is the natural place for Latin America to go shopping.

The first result has been a flood of letters and cables from Latin American firms wanting to know whether they can buy strategic items here, how much they cost, what credit can be arranged, what currency exchange obstacles may have to be overcome. In some cases, enterprising Latins have inquired what American firms might need extra salesmen or agents in Latin America.

War No Panacea, Harrington Says

WPA Commissioner Feels Labor Won't Benefit

Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—The European war will not solve the American unemployment problem, in the opinion of Col. F. C. Harrington, WPA commissioner.

If the United States remains at peace, Harrington said in a radio speech last night, the number of unemployed might be reduced by one-sixth or even one-fourth by next summer.

"That will still leave us with a very large number of unemployed," he said, adding that the present total is about 10,000,000.

73 Men to Get Local WPA Work

Hallinan Says Group Will Be Placed in October

Seventy-three men who have been certified by the Kingston welfare department as eligible for work on local WPA projects will shortly be placed at work.

Arthur F. Hallinan in charge of Ulster county WPA activities stated that he had requisitioned all 73 men, and that it was expected that they would be assigned to various projects some time during October.

When this number of men are placed at work it will bring the total number of men employed on city WPA projects to approximately 300.

Before congress enacted the regulation that all men who had worked for a period of 18 months continuously on WPA projects be laid off there were approximately 600 men engaged in Kingston on various WPA projects.

Germans Declare British Cruiser Is Attacked From Air

Anglo Office Calls Report 'Poppycock'; Warsaw Is Expected to Fall Into Nazi Hands Soon

FOREIGN-AT-GLANCE (By The Associated Press)

BERLIN—Germany reports air bombings of British heavy cruiser near Scotland; (British admiralty calls report "all poppycock"); Warsaw's defenders expected to surrender formally tomorrow; German troops fall back behind new line of Polish territory allotted Soviet Russia; Hitler, after two-day stay, leaves Berlin for unannounced destination.

MOSCOW—Von Ribbentrop confers with Molotov in Stalin's presence; speculation mentions German-Soviet pact and possible creation of new Balkan bloc with Turkish participation; foreign ministers of Estonia and Turkey also negotiating in Moscow.

LONDON—Diplomats convinced Hitler will use Moscow talks as springboard for "peace offensive" since Poland is conquered; Britain continues preparations for long war.

Raid Reported
(By The Associated Press)

A German communique today reported "a heavy British cruiser was successfully attacked" by a German air raider near the British coast.

A British admiralty spokesman termed the German claim "all poppycock."

Berlin said that Poland's capital, shattered by 20 days of German siege, was prepared to surrender, probably tomorrow.

German announcement of the city's unconditional surrender was borne out by a Polish news agency dispatch indicating further defense had been abandoned with German and Russian armies in virtually complete control of Poland.

The Warsaw radio was silent after telling the dramatic story of the city's valiant defense and ruin. On the western front hostilities were slow-paced.

Swiss dispatches said a French counter-attack had driven back German troops which had thrust toward a rail junction east of Wissembourg.

Front Is Quiet

"There were no noteworthy fighting activities" on the west, said a German communique reporting "one enemy plane" had been downed near Saarbrücken.

For a clue to the future diplomats looked to Moscow, where the foreign ministers of Germany, Turkey and Estonia were conferring with the Soviet government.

Joachim von Ribbentrop, the German foreign minister, had a four and a half hour conference with Premier-Foreign Commissar Molotov in the presence of Joseph Stalin.

Moscow speculation mentioned the possibility of a Soviet-German military pact and of the formation of a new Balkan bloc with Turkey participating.

The Soviet press published attacks on Estonia, accusing her of harboring foreign submarines.

There were unofficial reports Russia was making demands on Estonia for fortification concessions on the Baltic.

Finnish dispatches said several Soviet warships were sighted making a search of the Estonian coast.

Senate Debate on Measure Is Scheduled to Start on Monday; Session Three Hours Long

Must Take Title

Belligerents Would Have to Take Title Before Shipment

Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Senate foreign relations committee approved today the administration neutrality bill to permit the sale of American armaments to belligerent nations.

Senate debate on the measure is scheduled to start Monday.

The bill was approved after a three-hour session. It would repeal the existing embargo on arms to belligerent countries.

Belligerents would be required to take title to all armaments and other goods purchased in this country before they were shipped, however, and would have to carry the purchases home in their own vessels.

Sponsors of the measure claim these provisions would serve to put all sales to warring countries on a virtual "cash and carry" basis.

The committee's final action on the measure came after development of a controversy which threatened for a time to delay approval until tomorrow.

Controversy Develops

Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—A controversy developed unexpectedly in the Senate foreign relations committee today over the administration's neutrality bill, and some members said it was unlikely that a plan to approve the measure before nightfall could be carried out.

Senator Borah (R-Ida.), ranking minority member of the committee, told reporters that "we are trying to put the bill in proper form."

One controversial question, Borah said, is the treatment of airlines operating in the western hemisphere. He said a change undoubtedly would be made to permit American planes to continue operating from their bases on British soil.

The measure would repeal the existing arms embargo. It would also require belligerent nations to take title to all goods purchased in this country before they were shipped and to carry the purchases in their own vessels.

Some members left the committee session when the Senate met at noon, but most remained to work on the measure.

Senator Capper (R-Kan.) said that among the matters under discussion was the provision banning American ships and airplanes from carrying goods to belligerents. Shipping interests have urged revision of that provision.

Capper said he thought it was unlikely the bill would be approved today. Leaders had planned to start general Senate debate on the measure Monday and that still might be possible even though committee action was delayed somewhat.

The Senate, in its brief session, voted unanimously to ask the attorney general for information on what powers were made available to President Roosevelt when (Continued on Page 21)

Requests Limit

Asks That Bookings on Five Ships Be for American Citizens, None Others

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Officials of the United States Lines said today the state department had requested that bookings on five refugee ships be limited to American citizens.

The vessels are the Orizaba, which returned last night from Galway and Glasgow; the St. John and Acadia, sister ships, and the Iroquois and Shawnee. These ships, chartered or taken under special operation by the United States lines, normally are used in coastwise and offshore trades.

Foreigners will continue to travel on the lines' regular trans-Atlantic vessels—such as the Manhattan, Washington, President Roosevelt and President Harding—the officials said.

The President Adams of the American President Lines docked here yesterday with 192 passengers, including 162 Americans, many of whom had been stranded in Italy and southern France.

Lochner Says Germans Use Camouflage With Effect

(Editors: Louis P. Lochner, chief of the Associated Press Berlin Bureau, is with the first newspaper correspondents shown the German side of the western front.)

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
With the German Army on the Western Front, Sept. 28 (AP)—Camouflaging has become a fine art in the Saar sector of Germany's powerful Westwall.

You approach a bridge, for instance, and see a gasoline filling station with all normal equipment just before you.

But before you go onto the bridge you see it isn't a filling station at all. If you look closely enough, you see machine-guns pointing ominously at you from behind a facade that hides a pill box.

You see a group of trim little houses built in native Saarland style near an industrial plant. You come closer and see that windows and curtains simply have been painted against armor plate.

Your eye travels up the beautiful slope of a valley and you see a green and white peasant's home. But strong field glasses show guns of various caliber protruding from the windows.

Neat Little Tavern
You notice a neat little tavern with a blackboard outside advertising your favorite wine.

On closer investigation, it isn't a tavern at all—it's a miniature fort.

You go into the beautiful forests in which the Saar region abounds. Logs on a slope seem to lie ready for hauling. As a matter of fact, they are connected by barbed wire entanglements and make a formidable construction.

You see heaps of dried twigs and branches piled up by a forester. Beneath them, you discover huge boxes of ammunition.

Less than a mile from the French at Saarbrücken, several hundred camouflaged bunkers and other defense stands have been built. Their steel plating is about six inches thick and their concrete walls six to 12 feet thick.

To the layman, the word of Fuehrer Hitler that "the Westwall is unconquerable" assumes a new meaning as he inspects the defenses against possible French attack.

More Numerous
They are infinitely more numerous than those against Belgium and Luxembourg. One finds them everywhere, even on the square opposite the village church. The banks of the Saar river are profusely studded with them.

Building and strengthening of fortifications continues all the time. Pioneers (Engineer Corps) and the labor service work together and openly, even though they are within sight of the French, for nothing seems to happen to disturb them.

They have ceased to worry about the French. They say they are convinced that no enemy can penetrate their wall.

With similar concern, families go back to abandoned towns and villages to fetch their belongings while factories and plants send big trucks every day to cart away stocks and machinery.

So far, in this first month of war, no French artillery or aircraft has tried to interfere.

License Restored

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—The Appellate Division has ordered restoration of a state liquor license to Riley's Lake House, well known Saratoga Springs night club. The state liquor authority revoked the license during the Spa racetrack's diamond jubilee meeting last month on the grounds gambling was permitted on the premises.

Award to Woman Opposed by State

Albany, Sept. 28.—(Special)—Appeal has been brought by Attorney John J. Bennett, Jr., from two court of claims awards to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marino of Highland, Ulster county, for injuries received by Mrs. Marino when she fell on a sidewalk in the hamlet of Highland, adjacent to the state highway.

The court of claims awarded Mrs. Marino $1,500 for her injuries, and $466 to her husband for loss of her services.

According to the papers filed with the court, Mrs. Marino caught her foot in a hole in the sidewalk and fell, on August 22, 1938, resulting in "permanent" lameness.

Attorney General Bennett, in seeking reversal of the court of claims award, asserts that the state was not responsible for the maintenance of the sidewalk upon which Mrs. Marino fell.

Counsel for the Marinos is Michael Nardone of Highland.

Freshmen entering Hamilton College this fall will start the year with six hours of scholastic aptitude and achievement tests—an innovation.

HOLY NAME RALLY

Residents of Kingston and Ulster county when viewing the parade and rally to be held here on Sunday by the Holy Name Society will witness striking evidence of the influence on American Catholic men of a conception first formally expressed six hundred and sixty-five years ago. It was the Church Congress of Lyons in 1274 which prescribed that "the faithful should have a special devotion to the Holy Name of Jesus." As a demonstration of that loyalty, five thousand men are expected to come from parishes in the New York Archdiocese to participate in the parade and in the services at the Municipal Stadium.

Today in many countries thousands are being exiled, shot, or starved in concentration camps because of their religious beliefs. Religion itself, not merely one denomination or another, is being attacked by radicals, who denounce it as the opiate of the people, but who make a religion of their own doctrines, or by those who would reduce it to subservience to the all-powerful state or replace it by a new nationalist racial creed.

In the light of these circumstances, men of all faiths will rejoice with the Very Rev. Martin J. Drury, Roman Catholic Dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties, that such a large number of Americans will come here to honor the "Holy Name of Jesus" and to "declare the power of Him Whom they honor, Whose name is above all names, Whose principles they respect, Whose precepts they obey."

DAHLIAS

Consider the dahlia. Many people have toiled to make it a flower not only of gorgeous beauty—it had that in its native Mexico—but also of infinite variety. Some years ago, the encyclopedia records, 3,000 varieties had been catalogued, and the creation of new varieties still goes on.

The dahlia is one of the five most popular flowers in the United States. So many persons are dahlia enthusiasts that very large shows are held to display this flower alone. One just held in Ohio brought growers—both amateur gardeners and skilled horticulturists—from all the Middle West.

There are dahlia blooms only an inch in diameter and others that spread a foot and a half from petal tip to petal tip. There is an interesting sidelight on gardening ideas in the current size trend. For a while all the emphasis was placed on giant flowers, and spectacular results were achieved. But people soon found that the huge flowers were good only for show purposes. They were unwieldy in the garden and too big for bouquets in the ordinary home.

Today interest has turned to the smaller flowers, with emphasis now on variety in shape and color. And that seems to be evidence of a wholesome fact. People make gardens now for pleasure, to beautify their yards and to have indoors flower arrangements that are as lovely and colorful as a fine picture and yet are suited to the intimate family environment. They "make garden" not to crowd in some special line but to enrich their own lives.

HOUSEBUILDING HELP

Families planning to build houses in the years ahead should suffer fewer of the difficulties arising from inexperience. There is a widespread movement to put house building on a sound and intelligent basis, to get into the small house as much lasting value, convenience and beauty as possible at moderate cost.

A recent proposal along this line is the organization in Cleveland of a Home Builders' Institute which would unite the services of a number of other organizations already in the field and serve as a clearing house of reliable information for the family entering upon its first housebuilding venture.

This institute would register and certify houses as to quality of materials and workmanship, and provide plans and inspection and accurate information for prospective home builders. A program of this sort should be as good news to architects, contractors, building supply concerns and workmen as to the private individuals to be served. Anything that creates confidence in the ultimate result will stimulate the desire to start. Incidentally, anything which promotes the building of good dwellings benefits all business and industry and improves social conditions.

FEMINE PEACE

Let peace, not war, furnish the theme for new styles, urges the Hairdressers' Association in Chicago. In effect it is saying, "Don't let the war get into your hair." Which is excellent and timely advice.

Heaven knows, there are already too many men—millions to many—wearing steel helmets. The Germans seem to be reviving medieval armor in the form of modern reastplates, impenetrable to bullets, and also greaves to protect the legs from knee to ankle.

Fashionable caricatures of such accoutrements would certainly not be good taste nor good psychology, in a peaceful land. We are too "war-conscious" now.

"Parents Are Blamed for Problem Child" says a headline. And does the problem child spank them or send them to bed supperless?

While there's life there's hope, even for an ex-king, and Ed Windsor has got a job at last.

It might be a good thing for us Americans, too, to get into the habit of paying "cash on the barrelhead."

The President's popularity, it seems, rises when Congress is not in session. And so does the congressmen's.

Bremen! Bremen! Who's got the Bremen?

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)
 IS RHEUMATISM HEREDITARY?

Most of us are inclined to smile when an individual tells us that he has inherited his rheumatism from one or other of his parents. He may give you the names and their relation to him of various relatives, all of whom have had some form of rheumatism.

Physicians are agreed that infection, from teeth, tonsils, or intestine, causes most cases of rheumatism.

Is there a possibility that rheumatism is inherited? Drs. R. L. Gault, Baltimore, A. Cioce, Washington, D. C., and Francis E. M. Reed, Baltimore, in the Journal of Clinical Investigation, record their studies of the large number of cases of rheumatism in the families of ninety-six rheumatic children.

The percentage of persons with a history of rheumatism who had parents who had rheumatism which was found to run in two generations—parents and grandparents—was about four times as high as in a similar number of persons who had no history of rheumatism.

When one or both parents had a history of rheumatism (rheumatic fever, heart disease, St. Vitus Dance), a greater percentage of the offspring was rheumatic than was found in the families of a similar number who had no history of rheumatism. The percentage of rheumatic symptoms was found to be almost twice as high in female offspring of rheumatic mothers as in the male offspring of these mothers. A greater percentage of persons with rheumatic disease was found among the mother's relatives—uncles, aunts,—than among the father's relatives.

The above evidence "suggests" that a hereditary constitution may be a factor in causing rheumatism. This evidence does not, however, rule out infection as an important part in causing rheumatism, nor that exposure is not also an important factor.

The lesson is very plain. Where there is a history of rheumatism in the family, early removal of all infection and the prevention of exposure to cold and dampness, should be good insurance against rheumatism.

You can't help the "tendency" towards rheumatism, but you can prevent the "lighting" of the match that starts the prepared pile of wood.

Dunford, psychologist, has advised University of Tennessee freshmen. Trying to study while lying down or propped in bed against soft pillows is frowned upon. "Effective study means work, and work cannot be carried on lying down," Dr. Dunford said.

Honolulu, T. H. (AP)—Patients at Queen's hospital now have original paintings to look at, instead of blank walls. The Honolulu Academy of Arts lends the works to the hospital, instead of letting surplus paintings accumulate dust in the basement.

The club voted to assist in displaying stamps.

Invitations had been sent to five prospective members and one was present, Miss Henrietta Woolsey, who joined. Three of the members were appointed to prepare the program and assist the entertaining leader at each meeting, and they were Eber Smith, Troy M. Cook and Oliver J. Tillson. In accepting the appointment the vice president, Mr. Cook, reminded the members that success of the exhibition would be limited by the cooperation given. It was also decided as in the past, that each member contribute the newest news items concerning stamps as a benefit to others. The club also subscribed to Scott's Monthly Journal and for a weekly magazine for each member.

It had been a custom to elect officers in April but this year the annual election will be held November 7. The hosts served ice cream, cake and coffee. The next meeting will be held October 3 with Mr. and Mrs. Troy M. Cook, Present were Miss Margaret Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Eber Smith, Miss Margaret Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Cook, Miss Woolsey, Mr. Tillson.

Editor's Note: Below are presented questions and answers on the subject of the Vehicle and Traffic Law and rules of the road. Readers are invited to submit questions to Information Service, Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Albany, N. Y.

Q.—I would like to know what a person is required to do if he has an accident resulting in property damage only?

A.—The driver must, after he has stopped, exhibit his license and give his name, residence, including street and number, and license number to the person sustaining the damage.

Q.—Supposing the owner is not present, then what does the driver do?

A.—In that case, he must report to a police officer, giving the same information mentioned above. In the event no police officer is near, the report should be made as soon as the driver is physically able to do so to the nearest police station or judicial officer.

Q.—Are the same actions followed when personal injury has been caused?

A.—In addition to reporting to the injured party, the driver must also give his name, residence, including street and number, and license number to the person sustaining the damage.

Q.—What would happen to a person who failed to do all that he is required to do?

A.—Actually two violations would be involved, the more important one being that of leaving the scene of an accident without reporting the accident to the commissioner. For the former offense, if there is a conviction, the license must be revoked, and for the latter, the license may be suspended in the discretion of the commissioner.

Delicate Questions of American Neutrality Arising and Some Never Will Be Touched
 By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 28.—Many intricate and delicate questions of American neutrality are already arising which will never be covered by either the existing or the modified statute governing an arms embargo.

One, for example, relates to the assistance being rendered to the crews of belligerent vessels by American merchantmen and another concerns the nature of the patrol which the United States would like to establish with respect to the coast of North and South America.

Under one interpretation of "strict neutrality," American naval vessels that happen to be in the vicinity of those French or British freighters which are attacked by German submarines should not go to the rescue, for to do so is in theory not a bit different than would be an American ambulance service established behind the lines of either of the belligerent armies.

There is no legal reason why Americans should not assist in handling the wounded behind the front lines, but now they cry for strict neutrality, it is such that any American unit sent to assist would doubtless be subject to criticism if in any way were sponsored by the American government. This would seem to exclude any aid, therefore, from American naval vessels on the high seas, though the other day a United States destroyer, answering a distress call, stood alongside a British cargo ship and the German submarine did not attack.

But how about American merchantmen which soon will be forbidden to travel to belligerent ports? Will they, by the same theory, be precluded from having any contact with vessels flying belligerent flags, whether or not for humanitarian reasons? In a sense, when an American merchantman answers an SOS call of a British or French vessel already attacked by a German submarine, the task of the German submarine commander in complying with the new rules governing submarine warfare, namely that crews must be placed in a position of safety, is made easier through such American assistance. Nobody will question the humanitarian objective of America in rendering this assistance, but nowadays, with the peculiarly rigid view being taken of neutrality, a part played by American vessels at sea, especially if they respond to an SOS call before a pursuing submarine actually fires its torpedo, may produce complicated questions for the diplomats to argue over. Perhaps a much more controversial issue will arise over the evident intent of the United States and the other republics of this hemisphere to establish a neutral zone along the coast of both continents. Hitherto a three-mile limit has been accepted as "territorial waters," and in some instances by treaty, the United States has succeeded in getting twelve miles as the approved outer limit for purposes of pursuing and searching foreign vessels engaged in smuggling.

To insist on a wide zone of perhaps 100 miles as American territorial waters in time of war is, from the viewpoint of neutral rights, quite consistent with past history. But, on the other hand, belligerents are constantly refusing to accept a neutral nation's concept of neutral rights, the perennial differences of opinion as to where the domain of one encroaches on the other being recorded in such massive works as John Bass Moore's digests of international law rulings of the last century and a half.

Will Britain and France or Germany agree to respect a zone extending 100 miles out to the ocean? If they do, United States shipping and the vessels of Latin-American countries will be safe to cruise between our ports and those of Central and South America without being halted by submarines or naval craft for search and seizure.

To require British patrolling warships to stay far out to sea might, however, permit, in some cases, German submarines to slip unobserved into the deserted waters of Central and South American countries for the taking on of supplies and fuel. The British, therefore, might object to such extension of territorial waters.

Although it is doubtful whether many German submarines will operate close to the shores of the western hemisphere countries anyway, still German assent is no more likely than British and French agreement. This is because the setting of such a precedent on one side of the Atlantic would naturally commit the belligerents to recognition of some such zone on the coast of other neutral countries on the other side of the ocean.

The Pan-American nations will doubtless paint their respective flags prominently on their shipping and proclaim a wide neutral zone, but it will require the effective assertion of these rights, especially by the United States, in diplomatic channels before such zones become an accepted international custom.

Toy Bank Display Has Some Odd Ones

Indicates Thrift Was Once More Than Virtue.

BOSTON.—Thrift once was more than a virtue—it had an entertaining reward.

Mechanical iron banks—souvenirs of the Victorian age—have been gathered from throughout the nation for an exhibition in the Boston Penny Savings bank and many are more intricate than a linotype machine.

Included in the exhibit were 50 banks from the collection of Mark Haber of Hartford, Conn. Perhaps the most extensive of the known collections, it also contains some of the most fantastic forms.

One—a Rubie Goldberg affair—set in motion by the placing of a coin in a slot. As the coin drops, a bulldog turns a somersault from a tiny bicycle, tossing the coin to a clown's basket and causes a music rack to hit Mother Goose on the nose.

The coin disappears under a wizard's tall hat in the magician bank while another in the form of a whale swallows a penny instead of Jonah, who looks on with relief.

Some banks have dancing bears, chimneys, Negro mamies who wolf the coin as quickly as they swallow a choice bit of fried chicken (southern style), cat and mouse banks, and some in human form which raise the coins to their mouths without any prompting or winking.

Some 230 different types of mechanical banks are listed in collectors' catalogues—but none of the enthusiasts including Walter P. Chrysler, motorcar manufacturer, boasts a complete set. Haber owns about 70.

Perhaps the oldest of the mechanical forms is in the Metropolitan museum of New York, a performing bear of the Han dynasty of China. It was made between 200 B. C. and 250 A. D.

Licenses Revoked And Suspended

Carroll E. Mealey, commissioner of motor vehicles, today announced the list of revoked and suspended driving licenses and certificates of automobile registration filed within the two weeks ended September 18. The revocations and suspensions totalled 586, of which 197 cases will require proof of financial responsibility before applications for new licenses will be considered.

There were 88 revocations and 253 suspensions in New York city and vicinity, and 93 revocations and 142 suspensions in the remainder of the state. In the Albany district, there were 16 revocations and 40 suspensions.

Nine residents of this vicinity, charged with motor vehicle law violations, were affected by the order of Commissioner Mealey as follows:

Revocations
Reckless driving — Victor H. Osborn, 85 Franklin street, Kingston.

Suspensions
Operating a motor vehicle in a manner showing a reckless disregard for life and property: John O. Davis, Gilboa; Mrs. Beatrice Carroll, Box 153, West Hurley; Arcie Van Aken, 171 Fairview avenue, Kingston; Joseph J. Basch, R. D. No. 1, Kingston; Charles Vogt, Connelly.

Improper use of license plates: Steve Nagy, Ancram.

Operating an omnibus without bond: Israel Seigel, Ulster Heights, Ellenville.

BALKANS SEEK TO FENCE IN THE WAR

This map shows the diplomatic wall which the smaller Balkan nations—Turkey, Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary, Yugoslavia and Greece—are apparently trying to get Russia and Italy help them build to fence in the European war's eastern front and guard against the spread southward of Nazi German domination. The upper part of the line is along the demarcation Russia and Germany set up after the Nazi conquest of Poland. The presence of Turkey's foreign minister, Sukru Saracoglu, in Moscow caused speculation that Turkey might take a leading part in formation of the Balkan neutrality bloc.

Would-Be Americans Trying to Leave Europe

Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—Thousands of persons claiming to be Americans are trying to get to the United States from war-torn Europe as the rush of westbound traffic subsides.

This was disclosed in official quarters today, along with the fact the claimants are being turned down unless they have definite proof establishing that they are now American citizens.

The claimants are made up almost entirely of persons who were naturalized in the United States and then during the depression years gave up their residence and went back to the lands of their birth.

They generally took with them their American savings and thus avoided further American income taxes. Immigration and emigration figures show that in the depression years some hundreds of thousands of persons left the United States.

After two years, according to law, unless they returned to the United States, they lost their American citizenship.

Now many of them are appealing to American consulates to be "repatriated."

Some officials feel that since the claimants voluntarily left the United States, they should not be given another chance unless there are mitigating circumstances of family or business.

Army Establishes Unit To Test Combat Tactics

WASHINGTON.—The army air corps announced establishment of a so-called "demonstration group" at its tactical school at Maxwell Field, Ala., to develop and test new theories of aerial combat and tactics.

The new unit, to be known as the twenty-third composite group, will consist of 81 officers and 614 enlisted men under command of Maj. Frank O'D. Hunter, one of the few World War aces still remaining in active service.

Personnel of the new group will be chosen from those already highly experienced in flying, the army said

Thirsty Texas Land Will Be Irrigated

Huge Canal-Linking Job On Rio Grande River.

RAYMONDVILLE, TEXAS.—The largest concrete canal-linking job ever undertaken in the United States is being rushed to completion so 70,000 thirsty acres of the fertile Rio Grande valley may have water.

Contractors on the $5,000,000 Willacy county irrigation project pushed their employment totals past 1,000 as PWA Regional Director George M. Bull announced at Fort Worth that first regular deliveries of water would begin about September 1.

The irrigation project will be one of the most complete in the nation when it is finished. Between 20,000 and 25,000 acres will be supplied with water in September and additional acreage will be watered from time to time until the entire 70,000 acres of its scope will be fed, beginning December 31.

Altogether, the project will include 150 miles of concrete-lined canals, 130 miles of underground pipelines, and reservoirs and pumping stations. The project's pumping station below Mercedes will take approximately 150,000 feet of water from the Rio Grande each year.

Cement Gun company, of Allentown, Pa., the concrete contractor, has 1,300 men working on lining of the canals. The company's contract is the largest one of its nature ever awarded in this country. The only one larger was for a canal project in India.

The irrigation will enable this area to produce three or four crops a year. This is a principal winter fruit and vegetable producing section. The project also will help to make productive 7,000 acres of citrus fruits which heretofore have borne little marketable produce because of water shortage.

PWA financed the project with a 70 per cent loan and a 30 per cent grant.

Border Patrol Will Have Extended Radio Network

EL PASO.—A United States border patrol radio network along the Mexican border which will enable 24-hour communication from the Pacific ocean to the Gulf of Mexico is nearing completion with the installation of a 500-watt transmitter here.

Another 500-watt transmitter has been erected at Laredo, Texas, and a third will be constructed at San Diego, Calif.

Intermediary stations of 300 watts are to be located at McAllen, San Antonio, Del Rio and Alpine, Texas, and at Tucson, Ariz., and El Centro, Calif.

When the network has been completed, exchange of information by border patrol stations at any point along the border will be possible.

Coupled with installation in border patrol automobile cruisers of portable radio telegraph sets effective up to 200 miles, the radio network will greatly aid in identification and law enforcement work. Present cars are equipped with portable telephone sets having a maximum transmitting distance of 30 miles.

Just a Bit Heavy

Max Silverstein entertained eight guests in his New York home, fried pancakes for them. The guests thought the products of Max's culinary art a little tough, and Max, who ate nine of the pancakes, conceded they weren't as good as usual. During the night Max and his guests developed internal qualms, sent for a physician. After examining his patients, the canny doctor looked around the kitchen, discovered Max had mistakenly used plaster of paris instead of pancake flour.

More Marriages Occur Throughout Philippines

MANILA.—Dan Cupid is boosting his batting average in the Philippines, especially in Manila.

There were 4,501 marriages in Manila last year, the city civil registrar has announced, bringing the rate per 1,000 population up to 24.61. The average rate for the previous five years was 20.93 per 1,000.

The entire islands recorded 96,470 marriages last year, from the elaborate seven-day ceremonies of the Moros in Sulu to the justice of the peace marriages for a fee of five pesos. The total represented a rate of 15.69 per 1,000, against the average of 14.37 for the previous five years.

The World War cost the United States over 50,000 men killed in action, 236,000 wounded, 57,000 dead of disease and 6,500 dead of other causes.

Townsend Group To Attend Fair

The Kingston Club at its meeting last evening voted to send one or more bus loads to the "Townsend Day" rally at the World's Fair, New York, next week Friday, October 6. Townsendites from all over New York and adjoining states will gather there that day, to hear an address by Dr. Francis E. Townsend, founder of the Townsend movement. Townsend clubs in Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and other places in this part of the state will also send large delegations.

The buses will leave Kingston Central Post Office at 7 a. m. October 6, returning on the same night. Persons wishing further information concerning this trip are asked to phone the club secretary, 356-J.

In spite of the storm last evening a good-sized audience was present at the meeting at Mechanics' hall. Many new members were received, including a number of business men. The club now numbers nearly 400 members and a "drive" is on to double this membership before the end of the year.

The Kingston Townsend Club some time ago announced its readiness to debate the merits of the Townsend Plan with the accredited representatives of any organization of standing in Kingston or Ulster county. The challenge has not been accepted as yet.

There will be a special meeting of all those planning to go to the World's Fair on Townsend Day, next Monday evening, at 147 Downs street to complete arrangements for the New York trip.

Talks on Maine at Rotary Luncheon

The weekly Rotary luncheon held Wednesday at the Governor Clinton Hotel was featured by reports of the district Rotary meeting recently held and by an interesting talk on the state of Maine.

President Van Ingen and Secretary Brown of the local service gave sidelights of the district meeting which proved of great interest to the members. The international question was one that was discussed at some length and the consensus of opinion among the Rotary delegates was that if the principles of Rotary were applied they would right the world's difficulties. Rotary is banned in many of the countries in Central Europe today. Among the new definitions given for Rotary at the district meeting were "Propaganda for Peace and Friendship" and "Organized Good Will, Predicated on Good Fellowship and Good Friendship. Economic pressure was given as the cause of the rise of dictators in the world today.

The Rev. Maurice W. Venno, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, was the principal speaker taking as his topic, "Maine." Having spent some 25 years in the northeasternmost state, the speaker was able to give a graphic description of that country.

Maine, which is naturally heavy wooded, is of broken topography, rising to mountainous elevations and sloping in broken form toward the coast, which is rugged, picturesque and indented with many harbors. The entire territory is alive with history, romance and myth.

Its waters abound in fish. Its woods are a wild life sanctuary and lumber is the principal manufacturing product with ship-building on a large scale. Its granite output is among the ranking sections of the country.

Maine is also a pleasure resort attracting many visitors during the summer months and also in the fall and winter for hunting. Penobscot Bay was one of the spots mentioned for its natural scenic grandeur and boating activity. Anecdotes and stories illustrative of the hardy settlers, treasure hunting and tales of the vikings were thoroughly appreciated. Some of the epitaphs, typical of New England, which are among the Rev. Mr. Venno's large and assorted collection, were pleasant sidebars interspersed during the talk.

Among the guests present at the luncheon was Louis Weiner.

American production of cotton increased 50-fold between 1800 and the Civil War.

Peggy Pollard Prints Her Husband's Gorgeous Beard

London, Sept. 28 (AP)—From the depths of Cornwall, which has not known the hand of an invader since the days of the Phoenicians, came this homey gas mask hint today in a letter to the London Times:

"May I put forward a suggestion for the comfort of those bearded men who do not wish to lose this desirable adornment? Four curling pins may be bought at the stores and the beard tightly rolled up in these and tucked under the chin. The gas mask is then drawn over the face, beard and all, and is perfectly airtight."

"This discovery has been the means of preserving my husband's magnificent beard and I submit it to you in the hope that it may save others."

"I am, sir, your obedient servant," Peggy Pollard, the Ropewalks, Saint Mawes, Cornwall."

It Takes Practice

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—Eleven-year-old Robert Eagan thinks pie baking is just like baseball—you've got to practice. A few days ago Robert put aside his baseball glove and went into training for a 4-H Club pie baking contest. He baked a pie, his first. Yesterday he baked his second. It won first prize from six girl contestants.

Former Resident Is Installed Pastor Of Baptist Church

One of Kingston's former residents, the Rev. Kenneth Lloyd Garrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie F. Garrison of 29 Liberty street, was installed officially as pastor of the Welsh Baptist Church in Taylor, Pa., on Monday evening. A very impressive ceremony marked the memorable occasion.

Previous to his duties at the Pennsylvania church, the Rev. Mr. Garrison was a student at Georgetown College, Georgetown, Ky., from which he was graduated with the degree of bachelor of arts, having majored in English, history and psychology. During his last year at the college, the newly installed pastor was assistant professor of psychology.

The Rev. Mr. Garrison was graduated from Crozer Theological Seminary in 1939 with the degree of bachelor of divinity, having majored in the department of church history. He also pursued graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania.

At the installation service on Monday which was attended by a capacity audience, Prof. R. E. C. Harkness, Ph. D., head of the department of church history of Crozer Theological Seminary, was the preacher. Dr. Harkness is president of the American Baptist Historical Society and editor of its periodical, the Chronicle.

Throughout the impressive program which will long be in the memory of the Rev. Mr. Garrison, seven other preachers of in and around Taylor, were heard. The charge to the minister was given by the Rev. W. D. Goughly, of the Immanuel Baptist Church, Scranton, Pa. The Rev. Mr. Stanton of the Scranton Welsh Baptist Church presented the charge to the people.

The Rev. Kenneth L. Garrison was summoned to the Taylor church on May 14, while he was still a student in Crozer. And on June 11 he assumed official duties as the minister. Before going to that congregation he was assistant minister of the Baptist Church in Lansdowne, Pa.

Kingston churchgoers will well remember the Rev. Mr. Garrison for his excellent work as leader of the Youth Council and as an officer in county and state Christian Endeavor work with the many young people.

The Rev. Mr. Garrison was graduated from Kingston High School in 1931. Before leaving for college he was a member of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church, in Showers Growing Popular.

Plumbing Inspector Says

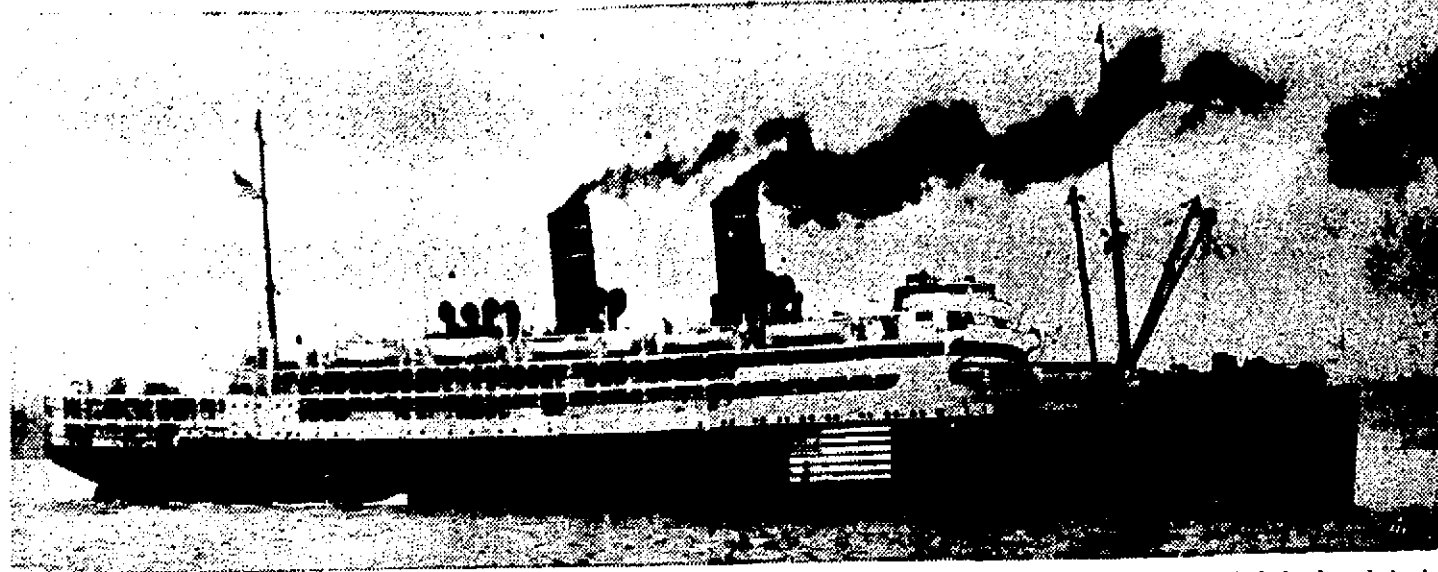

Visitors to the New York Fair who walk admiringly through the 15 model homes in the Town of Tomorrow are impressed with the fact that every bathroom has a shower, Charles H. Gregory, plumbing inspector, points out.

This ratio of a shower for every bathroom is carried out in houses in all classes. In the houses costing $20,000 or more there are multiple shower facilities. One of the houses sets a new high for shower equipment with two showers in the bathroom, one being a shower over the tub with a glass shield and the other a shower cabinet.

Bathrooms in the model houses were carefully planned to provide convenient location for showers. In one house, the shower cabinets are accessible from the bedrooms without entering the bathrooms.

Exhibits of the latest shower-bath equipment and accessories show the ease with which a shower may be installed in an existing bathroom without marring the walls; self cleaning and water saving shower heads; mixing valves to provide tempered water; gadgets that soften and perfume the shower spray; telescopic shower curtain rods; safety grab rails, foot showers; shower cabinets with two heads set at juvenile and adult heights; and glass doors for shower cabinets and over-the-tub showers.

AMERICAN SHIP BRINGS MORE ATHENIA SURVIVORS

The United States Lines' steamer Orizaba, displaying the Stars and Stripes on her sides, steams slowly up New York harbor, bringing to the United States about 240 survivors of the Athenia disaster, some of them injured and all with graphic stories of the sinking of the British liner. The Orizaba was the first American ship to be commanded by the government especially to bring back Americans from Europe.

OVERWHELMED BY JOY

An unidentified woman survivor of the Athenia, sunken British liner, collapses on the pier in New York—overcome with joy on her reunion with friends and relatives. She was one of about 240 Athenia survivors who reached New York on the S. S. Orizaba.

Athenia Survivors
Reach New York

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Still nervous survivors of the Athenia disaster told today of the hysteria caused by a false alarm in the night while they were enroute home aboard the liner Orizaba.

The Orizaba's alarm bells began clanging suddenly early last Sunday morning.

Stewards and officers hastened to explain the ship's electric system had been short-circuited, but it was some time before the passengers were quieted.

The Orizaba arrived here late yesterday with 352 passengers, 240 of them Athenia survivors.

Representatives of the American Express Company issued cash refunds to those who lost traveler's checks in the disaster. In almost every case, the representatives took the passengers' word and handed out sums ranging from $40 to several hundred dollars.

The senior survivor was 80-year-old Mary Little, who had been abroad 11 times before and was returning to her home in Philadelphia.

Describing the torpedoing, she said, "I kept quiet. Many screamed, but I never did anything like that."

"The morale of the ship was wonderful. I climbed into one lifeboat, and it wouldn't work, so I had to climb out and get in another. I don't know how I managed. After five or six hours the Knute Nelson picked us up."

"I never saw such a gorgeous night. The moon was full, and the stars were the brightest I ever saw. God was with us that night."

Among the survivors were: Lucretia and Mary Louise Kelly of Tarrytown, N. Y., and Mrs. Wilhelmina and Miss Sylvia Greer of Milbrook, N. Y.

Screen Romance at Kingston Theatre

The screen's most fascinating romance of the year, "Lady of the Tropics" starring Robert Taylor and Hedy Lamarr, will be shown at Reade's Kingston Theatre, starting Friday, unfolding the dramatic tale of an adventurous American and a beautiful half-caste of the Orient with lavish settings reminiscent of the mysticism and splendors of the Far East.

Taylor, as Bill Carey, arrives in Saigon and falls in love with Manon, the Eurasian portrayed by Miss Lamarr. A half-caste, she is bound to Indo-China by racial distinctions. Failing to escape through the influence of Delaroch, a rich and powerful admirer, she has planned to marry a native prince when she is dissuaded by Taylor, whom she marries in stead. Although married to an American, Manon is prevented from fleeing from Indo-China. To release her husband, whom she loves devotedly, she slays the man who has thwarted her happiness.

Milk Truck Straddles Wall

A Carman milk truck from Prattsville, driven by Hilton Smith of Windham, and proceeding north, was left astraddle of the stone wall near the Ascension Church at West Point after leaving the roadway about 7:45 this morning. Apparently quite badly damaged underneath, the truck was left where it landed awaiting the arrival of another truck from Prattsville to get it back on the road.

Sergeant E. J. Hulse and Trooper Norman Baker, who made an investigation, understood that Hilton, who escaped injury, had gone to sleep at the wheel and the truck went out of control. The truck was being returned home after delivering its load of milk.

however, that allied pilots have yet to face the full strength of Germany's seasoned airmen, such as the Spanish Condor Legion and the Polish campaign veterans.

Paris manifested considerable interest in the current debate on neutrality legislation in the United States.

One French writer in Le Petit Parisien referred to the debate as a "pacifist marathon." He pointed to the "strange phenomenon" of opposing congressional leaders urging that the country stay out of war but accusing each other of trying to drag it in.

"One is tempted to conclude that American opinion, in seeking to array itself against the blinding light of realities, feels—and apprehends—that this war could one day impose itself on America as an unavoidable necessity commanded by the need of self-preservation."

Insurance Man Injured When Car Strikes Truck

Joseph C. Hartman of Queens Village, sustained a possible fracture of the arm shortly after nine o'clock this morning when the De Soto sedan he was driving hit the rear of a Ford truck on 9-W between Highland and West Park. He was treated by Dr. Carl F. Meekins of Highland and was then taken to Vassar Hospital.

Several other Casualty Insurance men who were riding in the car escaped injury. The sedan was quite badly damaged.

Sergeant Hulse and Trooper Lynn Baker of Highland, who investigated the accident, found that the collision took place on the grade near the fruit stand operated by followers of Father Divine. They were told that Hartman, driving south, had attempted to pass the Ford truck ahead of him, driven by Adelbert Roat of Manlius, as it was passing a truck ahead of it. Hartman's sedan struck the rear of the Ford.

Two of Bergdoll's Children Support Story About Visits

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Two of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll's five children today corroborated their father's testimony that he lived secretly in Philadelphia during part of the 19 years he was supposedly a fugitive in Germany.

Bergdoll, on trial before a general court martial on charges of desertion and escape, testified yesterday he slipped back into the United States twice, remaining four years the first time and three years the second. Both times, he swore, he lived in the home of his mother, Mrs. Emma Bergdoll, in Wynnefield avenue, Philadelphia, but never ventured from the house.

His oldest son, Alfred, 12, was called as the day's first witness. Alfred could not remember when he first saw his father in the Philadelphia house, but knew it "was a long time ago."

Tells of Periodic Visits

A fifth-grade pupil, he said he remembered his father lived with them in Philadelphia while he was in the second and third grades and part of the time when he was in the fourth grade.

His sister, Emma, a child of 11, told the same story. Her Uncle Erwin, she said, came to the house every night while her father was there.

Both children with two younger ones—the fifth was born in Philadelphia—were brought to America several years ago by their mother, Mrs. Berta Frank Bergdoll.

Bergdoll's civilian counsel, Harry Weinberger, said Emma was the last witness he would call to support his contention that Bergdoll's residence here in his fugitive years outlawed the charges under the statute of limitations, since he was within the jurisdiction of this country during that time.

Bergdoll was court martialed in March, 1920, and in May of that year was given permission to go to western Maryland to dig up a "pot of gold" worth $105,000, according to the story he told then. Yesterday he testified the gold did exist, but was hidden in a closet in his mother's home. He recovered it on his first visit home, he said, and turned it over to his mother who invested about $90,000 of it in Liberty bonds.

Van Etten Pleads For U. S. Bureau

President-Elect of Medicoes Would Have All Units Under One Official

Canandaigua, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—A plea for consolidation of national health service units into a single department, headed by a cabinet officer, came today from the president-elect of the American Medical Society.

Speaking for "organized medicine" at the 33rd annual meeting of the seventh district branch of the New York State Medical Society, Dr. Nathan B. Van Etten opposed compulsory sickness insurance and "the administration of medical practice by national bureaus."

He urged medical men, however, not to take a negative position on national health programs.

"Through the influence of systemized adverse propaganda," Dr. Van Etten said, "an impression has been created that the medical profession" * "is against any change in delivering medical care, and is acting in restraint of those who would try new plans."

"People should be told that these aspersions are untrue, unfairly presented..."

SHOKAN

Shokan, Sept. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. James Roach have returned New York, following a vacation sojourn of two weeks at Mrs. Anner Longyear's.

The condition of Ephraim Weeks, mountain road farmer, who has been ill at his home for the past two weeks, is reported improved at this writing. Dr. Shea of Stone Ridge is attending Mr. Weeks.

The wind blew a gale here Tuesday morning but the only casualties were the corn stalks, which begin to sag at this time of the season anyway. The rain was badly needed as new grass seeding was suffering and the ground was too dry for potato digging and fall plowing.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wallerstein spent Sunday with their daughter, Miss Anita Wallerstein, teacher of the school at Ashokan. Marcel Maier is driving the Beechford Farms milk delivery truck through this section.

Quarterly communion services will be held in the Shokan Reformed Church next Sunday morning and in the church at The Corner in the evening.

It is reported that bass are not biting well in the Ashokan reservoir at this time, due, probably, to the fact that the fish have taken to the deep water where, under the new rules, it is almost impossible to get near them.

A local marriage of September 27, 1939, was that which united Sarah E. Winchell of Olive to Peter A. Van Steenburgh of Marletown. The ceremony was performed at Olive by the Rev. J. H. Lane, of the Shokan M. E. Church, witnesses to the nuptials being William H. Smedes and Almira Winchell.

Herman Wendt of Flushing spent Sunday at the Wendt place here. Herman is employed in an airplane manufacturing plant.

Earl Elmendorf, of the reservoir gate chamber force, is making a number of improvements about the grounds of his village center place.

Seymour Winne, local Republican county committeeman, is at a Kingston hospital.

A large part of the steep hillside in front of Clark Pfeiffer's north boulevard home has been cleared of underbrush, leaving a suitable number of cedars and other young trees along the slope. The spacious grounds of the nearby Frank Barringer and Anna O'Connor places also have been parked.

John Arnold of Gunderland drove here Tuesday and got another load of household stuff from the former Elmendorf place.

Copper Roof Appears Like Field of Fire

SALT LAKE CITY.—A copper roof on the new University of Utah fieldhouse looks like a field of fire when the sun shines on it from a certain angle.

Dean C. Pack, whose firm supplied the copper for the roofing, said it contained 59,400 square feet of the metal, in strips one foot wide. Placed end to end, the strips would extend over nearly 12 miles. Weighing 16,000 pounds, the copper is equal to that contained in approximately 1,175,500 pennies.

After A Man's Heart

by JEAN RANDALL

Chapter 22 A Confidence

"YOU know, Buff, you're the first girl friend I've ever had," Iris said, one afternoon. "Truly! I've never been popular with my own sex, for some curious reason."

"That reason," Buff remarked dryly, "would not be hard to find, if you think."

Iris laughed a little. "Men, you mean? I suppose so. But I can't help being attractive to them, Buff. It was said so simply, without boastfulness, that the young hostess took it at its face value."

"I suppose you can't now," she replied. "It's second nature with you. You have to have your daily dose of masculine admiration, or your nerves will blow up. I've known a lot of people like that, men as well as women. What I'd like to know, is how you got started? And what you really got out of it? Take Van now. He's simply obsessed by you. He spends so much time doing soap figures of you that he's starved for food and I didn't feed him. He's not talented, he has no money, he's not attractive personally. In other words, he's absolutely useless to you, Iris. And yet you fling him the word here, the glance there, that keeps him on a leash. Would you mind telling me why?"

"I suppose it's a hangover from my childhood," Iris said at last. "My mother was a famous singer, really great in her own way. We traveled about, and everybody sat and adored her because of her voice. I was hardly out of babyhood before I started envying her, started hoping I could sing, too, better than she could, even. But I hadn't a sign of a voice. I had something else, though—looks." She paused to smile reminiscently at the fire.

"Your mother wasn't beautiful?"

"No. Homely, in fact. She didn't mind—at first. No one cared what she looked like as long as she had that magic voice of hers. But as I grew older and—well, prettier, her voice began to go back on her. She resented me then—terribly. She tried to keep me a child as long as she could. I was having affairs with men when she was still putting socks on me."

"What do you mean by affairs with men?" Buff inquired casually.

"Nothing immoral, if that's what you're trying to find out," Iris' lovely voice was quite as light in tone as Buff's. "Flirting with hotel clerks and traveling salesmen, with orchestra men as I grew a little older, finally with my mother's managers. That's what caused the rows. Oh, yes, we rowed—bitterly. She threatened to put me into a convent; to turn me out without a cent. It wasn't a pretty chapter in my life," she finished.

Buff swallowed. It was not indeed pretty, she thought, and unwilling sympathy for the lonely child stirred her heartstrings.

"You—ran away? Earned your own living?"

Iris lifted surprised eyes. "I? Work? At what, my dear? No, I did something a lot smarter. I played my game under cover after that. I kept in the background and helped Mother pretend I wasn't there. But I made up for it by getting as many men crazy about me as I could."

Repelling
The younger girl gripped the arms of her chair. This cold-blooded confession repelled her, dissipated like mist the newly formed pity she had been feeling for Iris. Her scant knowledge of psychology told her that the girl had done nothing more dreadful than build a defense mechanism against her mother's jealousy; that it was, at that time at least, entirely unconscious on Iris' part. Still, she could not keep a trace of hostility out of her voice when she put her next question.

"Are you still doing that? Trying to make men fall in love with you just to satisfy your vanity?"

Iris was not offended. She laughed, and turned her head a trifle to see her reflection in the mirror.

"You like to put things in plain words, don't you? But you're right, of course. It was sink or swim with me, those last years with Mother. If I hadn't taken refuge in a sense of my power over men, I'd have turned into a shrinking and terrified shadow that kept itself in the background. And where, I ask you, would that shadow have been when Mother died? She left me only a few thousand. I've had to make them go a long way."

"How?"

"Not even this blunt question offended the guest."

"Just any way I could find. If a woman is pretty and is willing to help out some man in a scheme that's not too—too scrupulously honorable, she can always make a nice profit. I suppose that horrifies you, but you asked me." She sent Buff her sweetest smile. "And I'm safe with you because you are just that—scrupulously honorable. I mean, you wouldn't take advantage of a confidence you'd worried out of a guest."

Buff swallowed again, with more difficulty this time. Iris had trapped her neatly. She had all the curious ability of a helpless and lovely thing to protect herself, it seemed. Where truth and honesty best served her, she used them; and relied upon the same qualities in those to whom she had confided, to protect herself. Buff attempted feeble protest.

"I didn't worry anything out of you! Whatever you've told me today was of your own accord."

"No, dear." The sweet, drawing voice was like a bit of cotton soaked in ether. Buff thought, "You set out to find out about that business with Tim last summer. Oh, I've known all along you knew about it. Lots of people here in town have told me that he was ill at your father's ranch. I knew it was a sort of breakdown, poor Tim! I hated to let him down, but Latshaw—"

Buff interrupted her coldly. "You're confessing to me that you fooled Tim—Tim and George—deliberately? That you knew what you were doing when you obeyed Latshaw's instructions?"

"Confessing? Darling, not confessing is the word I used, I believe. And you're not the sort of person to betray a confidence."

"Nor," Buff told her pointedly, "the sort of person to stand by and see a friend tricked twice."

Iris yawned, stretching her arms above her lovely head.

"Calm yourself, sweet! I come, to paraphrase something I once learned at school, I can't remember just where, not to trick dear Tim but to marry him! There, does that make everything right?"

"M-marry him? Why?"

"You do ask a lot of questions, don't you, infant? Perhaps because I'm fond of him. Women often do marry for that reason. I've been led to believe. Perhaps because I think he has a future—a business future, I mean. And perhaps," she said in a changed voice, a white line appearing suddenly about her mouth, "because I'd be safe with him. Tim's wife'd be safe from everything and everybody, don't you think, Buff?"

'My Chosen Wife'

AFTER that, things happened with terrifying rapidity. To begin with, the next evening but one after Iris' visit to Buff, Tim appeared pale and grim.

"You asked me to wait a while, Buff, a few days, a week, before I asked Iris to marry me. Well, I waited. He seemed at last definitely and something in his expression made the girl's heart turn over. Unconsciously one hand stole up to her heart as though to steady its pounding."

"And now you are going—"

"No." He shook his head. "I've done it. Last night. We're engaged. I'll be in the paper tomorrow. I shall tell you to know first. That's why I'm here."

The room was swinging in slow circles about her. She could not have spoken at that moment if her life had depended on it. With the superb self-confidence of youth she had counted on Tim's seeing Iris with new eyes; as George saw her, as Buff herself saw her, as everybody but Tim, in fact, saw her; a girl with beauty and charm but utterly without integrity; lacking in the fine honor which was the foundation stone of Tim's life.

Buff, sitting there dumb and sick with misery, knew now that her imagination had played her a familiar trick. It had run gayly on ahead of her mind, picturing events which would never come to pass. She thought grimly of certain bits of advice advocated by the "new" psychology; to "think success and not failure"; and thus achieve success. Well, she had thought success—if by success was meant convincing Tim that Iris DeMuth no longer counted in his life.

"It's not," Buff told herself with anguish, "as if I'd been selfish about him. I love him, yes; I do—did want to marry him; but I'd cheerfully have given him up if it seemed best for him. But this . . . but Iris . . ."

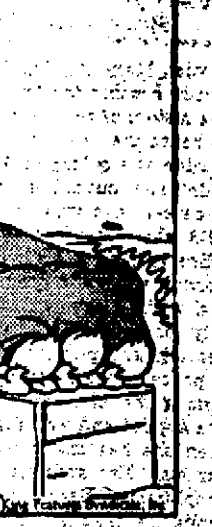

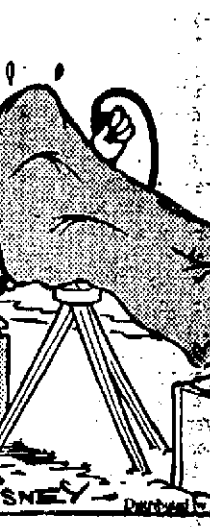

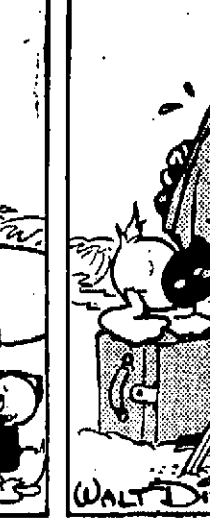

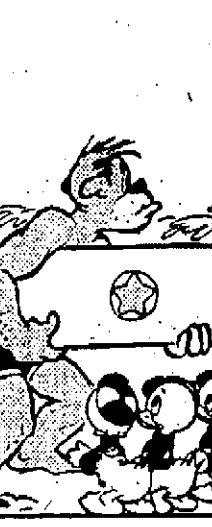

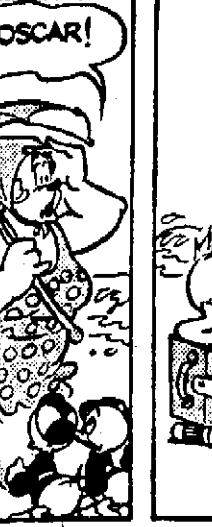

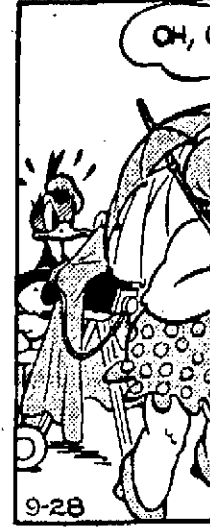

Tim was eying her narrowly. "My dear child, what's the matter? I thought you and Iris had grown to be good friends. Surely you're not going all pale and shocked because of what I've just told you?"

She spoke through stiff lips. "I am, Tim! And not for the reason you might think either. I mean—I'm crimson suddenly replaced her pallor, clear to the edge of her low-cut frock—" "It isn't because I . . . well, you know I'm fond of you, Tim. I've made no secret of it. But I don't want to marry any man unless—well, unless he's fond of me, too. But this—this is terrible, my dear," she went on more naturally. "Iris is . . . I can't put it into words. If you don't know by now, I suppose it's no use for any of us, George or all your friends, to try to persuade you that Iris is isn't."

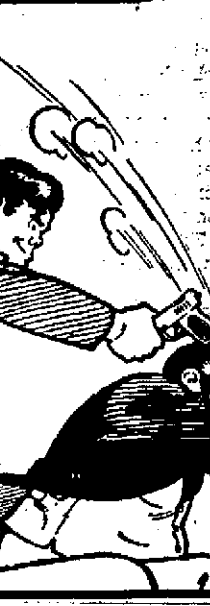

"That's enough," he said sharply. "If you can't congratulate me, Buff, or wish me happiness, at least you can refrain from criticism of my chosen wife."

Continued tomorrow.

Old Style Seismograph

Still Registers Quakes

An old seismograph that cost only $650 when it was installed nearly 30 years ago is still recording earthquakes in Mobile, Ala., and doing the job of the newer and costlier machines.

On two occasions recently the old instrument at Spring Hill college was the first in the nation to record earthquakes, according to Rev. A. J. V. "stand, S. J., physicist and vice president of seismologists in the eastern half of the United States.

Father Westland said the local seismograph was the first established in the deep South and while not as sensitive and costly as some modern types it still performs smoothly and is reliable.

It is the Wiechert type, still the most common in the world and the Model T of the seismographic instruments.

The machine is so sensitive it will record the footsteps of students dashing down the hall, away from their physics and chemistry classes. Trucks rumbling past the building and heavy seas pounding in the Gulf nearby also will cause oscillations of the seismograph's pen.

However, Father Westland explained, a seismologist can tell at a glance the difference between local disturbances and a real earthquake.

An average of a shock a week is recorded, but the seismograph failed to pick up two mild shocks in Alabama recently. Father Westland said he believed it was something about the earth's strata which prevented those shocks being recorded.

The seismograph rests on a stone pier in Yenni hall. The pier, buried deep in the earth, does not touch the building.

The machine works on the same principle as a magician snatching a tablecloth from under dishes without spilling a thing. The pier and machine move, but the needle remains stationary, recording the oscillation on smoked paper. Ink is too smeary to leave a clear record.

An 1866 tax book owned by A. Robbins, former supervisor of the town of Rosebloom, South Valley, shows a rate as high as $136 on $1,000, because of the bonus that had to be paid Civil War veterans.

Lights of New York

By L. L. STEVENSON

Miss Mary A. Shanley, who recently became the fourth woman in the history of the police department to reach the rank of first grade detective at a salary of $4,000 a year, didn't start out deliberately to follow a career in criminology. Back in 1928, she was a secretary in a law office earning $35 a week and supporting an invalid brother, who died a short time ago, and her mother. A city job appealed to her because of security and pension rights. Noting a police department opening listed among the civil service positions, she applied and was accepted. Since then she has made more than 50 arrests. Her specialty is catching shoplifters. Each morning, she reads the newspapers to see where the best bargains are offered. Shoplifters do the same thing because they know the ads will attract crowds.

Born on West Thirty-eighth street just two blocks from Hell's Kitchen, Miss Shanley is now 37 years old. She likes her work in the police department. That liking has brought her more than half her arrests. Having completed a day in a department store, she goes home, has dinner and rests a little. Then, if she feels a hunch, she starts out in her free time for a stroll in midtown. One night while walking along West Forty-fifth street, she saw two men "mugging" a man in a doorway. "Mugging" is when one holdup man holds the victim with his arm around his throat while another goes through his pockets. "Muggers" are tough citizens. In some instances they have strangled their victims. Not so long ago, a man was killed in that manner in a washroom of the Independent subway's Forty-second street station. Miss Shanley captured the "muggers" she saw. She knows how to handle a revolver.

In a Herald Tribune interview, just after her promotion, Miss Shanley said that the hard part of her job, watching for shoplifters in department stores was the temptation to which she was constantly subjected—the temptation to take advantage of the bargains she saw day after day. She's become hardened now and is able to pass some of them up. But it is still rather tough going.

Speaking of police, here is a story not so pleasant. The other evening in the Forty-second street station of the Independent subway, a drunk was amusing a crowd. I don't know whether he intended to undress and sleep in the station, but at any rate, he had one shoe off when a cop arrived. The officer endeavored to get him to put his shoe back on. The drunk was good-natured but stubborn. He was willing to buy everyone a drink but he didn't want to put on his shoe. Finally the policeman grabbed him and his shoe and started away with him presumably for the station house.

Now that was all right enough. The officer certainly had shown no little patience and the drunk, a young fellow, was in no condition to take care of himself in a subway. But as the cop propelled his prisoner up the stairway, he beat him over the head with his shoe—and he put real force into his blows. Unfortunately he moved too fast for his number to be obtained. But unless I am mistaken, he was the same dark young officer whom I saw recently bang a drunk in the nose at Eighth avenue and Forty-third street. And I'm not in favor of that kind of policemen.

A scout just came rushing in with the information that on Broadway between Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth streets, he saw a woman with purple hair. He was certain of the color because he had walked behind her the entire block. As there didn't seem to be anything he could do about it, he came up and told me. And his breath was perfectly clear too.

Alice Frost is looking for a new maid—one entirely devoid of theatrical ambitions. While on vacation, Miss Frost received a telephone call from an agent who wished to discuss a part he had for her in a new Broadway production. The maid took all the information for her employer, then dropped around to see the agent herself. Result: Miss Frost lost the best maid she ever had, and the maid has been given a bit part in a forthcoming show. (Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.)

Shot at Hawk Drops Fish
EPSOM, N. H.—Carl Reed took a pot-shot at a hawk and "brought down" a fish. The hawk was rising from Suncook river with a fish in its talons. The bird escaped, but in its fright dropped a two-pound, 21-inch pickerel.

Offer House Lots
For Only $1 Each
SITKA, ALASKA.—House lots at a dollar apiece are being offered to start a "building boom" in this far north community. The lots, for which the city has constructed streets and installed water pipes, are offered only to fishermen. To take advantage of the one dollar price the buyer must agree to build a house on the lot.

Kenneth Gallup, 31, Cooperstown, has combined automobile parts of 12 different makes, cut down to midsize specifications, to make the "Gallup Special." The car, it is claimed, will travel on the straightaway at better than 100 miles an hour.

In Northern China sails are often used to help propel wheelbarrows.

Manett and Harris Are Given Terms

was at Forsyth Park one day when the girl missed her bus. He offered to take her home to Ellenville and on arrival there he felt the need of cash and took some $150 from her father. He told the court he bought a car and radio with the money and spent the balance for the ring for the girl. Judge Wilson imposed a jail sentence of one year and allowed the three months the youth has served to count on his time.

Lawrence Dunn of Walden, Orange county, admitted he had been in trouble before and on his plea of guilty to burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry, was sentenced to Elmira Reformatory. Dunn, 18 years old, on June 12 is alleged to have robbed the gas station of Steve Surosi at Ellenville. Mr. Murray said the young man had a very checkered career and he suggested that a term in Elmira might allow him to learn a trade. He also is suffering from an eye ailment which could be cared for at the institution.

Pleads Not Guilty
Melvin Eckert, of West Esopus, charged with burglary, third degree, alleged to have taken place on April 17, pleaded not guilty. He is charged he entered a bungalow of Frank Jaszobsky of Brooklyn. After the visit the bungalow caught fire and was shortly burned. Counsel was assigned.

Leo Manett of Bloomingburg was charged with forgery, second degree, alleged to have taken place on May 4. The indictment charged the crime in two counts. The first count charged that Manett had a previous conviction as a plea to the second degree forgery charge would compel the court under the law to impose a 10 to 20 years sentence. This, he said, was excessive under the circumstances. Mr. Murray accepted the plea to the lesser charge. It was explained the checks were of a small amount.

An information charging Manett with having been sentenced to a term of two years in Lewisburg penitentiary on May 15, 1936, was read by District Attorney Murray and Manett admitted he was the lad who had been convicted at that time under the name of Stephen Sziziti. He was charged at that time with violation of the Dyer act, transporting a stolen car from one state to another. Judge Wilson imposed a five to ten year term at Clinton State Prison.

To Find Work

Harvey Max Crowder of West Point was charged with abandonment of children and failure to provide for his minor children. The charge named April 20 as the date of the act. Born at Greensboro, N. C., he said he had come north to accept a job at the Thayer Hotel at West Point as janitor but had not received the job and therefore had not made sufficient money at a temporary job in the hotel to send any money home. Crowder has been in jail 108 days and Mr. Murray informed the court that so long as Crowder remained in jail he could not support his family and he requested that the court parole Crowder until November 13 at 2 o'clock in order that he might get a job and support his children. Mrs. Crowder was in court and later when the parole was completed she and her husband conferred on a plan for supporting the children.

Walter G. Baisden of Hurley avenue, was charged with abandonment of children on May 11, last, and failure to provide for his minor children. He pleaded not guilty and appeared by Herman Katz. Baisden also was charged with grand larceny, second degree, on June 29 in two counts. It is charged that he took a car of his roommate and drove to Poughkeepsie with another youth and a couple of women. On the way home the car skidded on the Mid-Hudson bridge approach and was damaged. The charge of taking the car without permission was lodged, and Mrs. Baisden also brought a charge of abandonment against him. A plea of not guilty was also entered to the larceny charge.

Joseph Laffey of Marlborough, who said his home was in New York city until he came here to work, was charged with sodomy on May 27. He pleaded not guilty and counsel will be assigned.

Is Sentenced

Lewis C. Harris, Malden colored man pleaded guilty to a second degree assault charge and was given from two to four years at Clinton State Prison, Dannemora. It was charged that on July 22 Harris and Russell Monroe became involved in an argument over a debt of about 50 cents. The argument waxed warm and Harris struck Monroe over the head with such force that Monroe lost the sight of one eye. District Attorney Murray said that Harris had been in court before in 1937 and had been given a chance when the court showed leniency and allowed him to get off with a six months jail sentence. Now Harris had taken it upon himself to get in trouble again and he suggested that Harris' "career be wound up for a time." The judge imposed a term of from two to four years.

Western Style

William Gibson, who said he came from Colorado but had left his family in Michigan while he sought work in the east, was indicted for assault, second degree. On August 9, it is charged, he went to a store in Edenville and protested over the quality of meat which had been sold him by William Maresek. Gibson admitted that he had had a couple of drinks of wine and he said he had taken the situation in hand as they do in the west. He consequently struck the store-keeper over the head with a bottle. Gibson then disappeared but was later picked up and charged with assault. When arraigned he pleaded not guilty.

"All right," said Mr. Murray. "I had intended to recommend that you go if you pleaded guilty." Gibson, an elderly man who said he has a family of eight children in Michigan, cringed the situation and said, "Well it's guilty then." Gibson said he had taken the measure at the store to "protect myself." He has served 50 days in jail and Mr. Murray suggested that the court impose a jail sentence of 50 days and allow Gibson to get out and return to support his family. Later Gibson did leaving jail complimented the jurors on the splendid manner in which they had taken care of him. To Deputy Young, Gibson said, "you fellows took good care of me and I appreciate it, and you treated me fine" and he walked out of jail with a smile.

Joy and Harry Alexander of Ellenville, twins, charged with assault, second degree, were represented by Chris J. Flanagan. On May 2, 1939, the two were charged with having assaulted Charles Hoff of Ellenville. The twins pleaded not guilty to the charge but later after a consultation with their counsel they pleaded guilty to assault, third degree. They have been in jail five months and Judge Wilson sentenced them to six months in the county jail. Charles Hoff, the complainant in the case, filed last week suddenly in Kingston only two days after he had testified before the grand jury in the assault action.

Two Arraigned

William Moran and Harry Feye were arraigned under a bill charging grand larceny, second degree, in two counts. The act is alleged to have taken place on July 26 when the car of Hugo Schroeder, Whiteport hotel keeper, was taken. Moran was represented in court by Chris J. Flanagan and entered a plea of not guilty. Feye pleaded guilty and was sentenced to a year in the county jail. The car of Schroeder was wrecked on Fair street.

Albert L. Morris of Kingston, charged with rape, second degree, on July 9, pleaded not guilty. Herman L. Katz appeared for him. A rather pathetic case was presented when Ross Bloom of Stone Ridge was arraigned. He was charged with forgery, second degree, committed on February 9, last. This indictment charging forgery in two counts he admitted and entered a plea of guilty. Another charge of forgery dated March 8, one on March 27 and one on July 24, he denied and pleaded not guilty to the charge. Bloom is 22 years old and District Attorney Cleon B. Murray said there apparently was little which could be done in the case. Bloom, he said, had apparently decided to enter upon a career of crime. His father was crippled but despite this handicap young Bloom had taken advantage of his father. He had forged numerous checks and cleaned out his father's bank account. About $1,000 was gone. Bloom had secured another lad to act as witness to the signatures and had drawn out the money and spent it. Not only had he cleaned out the bank accounts but he had also forged a chattel mortgage of $1,000 with his father's name.

"I have no sympathy for the lad," said Mr. Murray. Judge Wilson inquired why he had cashed the checks and asked how many he had cashed. Bloom said perhaps about 15 or 20 and said he had started the acts because of financial difficulties. He said a girl was involved in his motive and admitted that some of the money was spent on drinking and a good time. Judge Wilson sentenced Bloom to Elmira State Reformatory.

William Merecka was arraigned on a charge of abandonment of children and failure to provide for minor children. He pleaded not guilty and Judge Wilson adjourned his case until November 13 at 2 o'clock and paroled him to get a job and make payments. Merecka has been in jail for some time.

Mr. Murray then filed six sealed indictments.

Famous Vacation Spot

Was Pirate Stronghold
Armed invasion, pirate plunder and the West Indies setting in the struggle for domination in the New World, in which England, France and Spain were the principal actors, are found in the history of Nassau, capital of the Bahamas.

Today Nassau is typical of the self-governing British colony. Here are found the clean streets, smart colonial police garbed in their summer khaki shorts, and the tennis courts where the English love to mingle social tea with their sports.

The Twentieth century has brought a different kind of invasion to Nassau. Summer and winter vacationists, refreshed by the breezes blowing inland from the West Indies sea, have brought changes to this British colony. Golf clubs which have taken the places of useless forts, swimming pools which have been substituted for pirate hideouts, racing yachts which now rule Bahamian waters and Nassau's coral beaches are the last sought by Twentieth century invaders who desire leisure sports and escape from offices and headlines.

Deputy Sheriff Ransel Wagar, who made the arrest at Modena, said that Savin had started a fire in a garage on the Hasbrouck farm there, but it was discovered and Savin arrested before much harm had been done.

Device Does Trick

San Francisco, Sept. 28 (AP)—Babies are being trained nowadays to stick out their chins, so that they won't have receding jaws when they grow up. A device attached to a nursing bottle does the trick. It was demonstrated to the Golden Gate Dental Congress today by its designer, Dr. C. O. Edwards of Oakland. It is simply a small bar-shaped affair attached to a rubber nipple and then fitted to a nursing bottle. The bar presses against the infant's upper lip, tending to keep the nipple just out of satisfactory range. The baby doesn't get anywhere with his lower jaw forward to get a firmer hold on the nipple.

In the Hungarian language, as in no other, all words are accented on the first syllable.

Windsor's Service Recalls Kitchener's Warning in 1914

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Duke of Windsor, who is "somewhere in France" today with the British expeditionary force, is going to be less of a headache to his government and superior officers than he was 25 years ago.

In 1914, when he was the Prince of Wales and a 20-year-old lieutenant in the Grenadier Guards, he wanted to lead his men "over the top."

He argued that he had three brothers and the empire would not lack an heir to the throne.

Then opposition came from an unexpected source. The prince, on furlough in London, was summoned by Lord Kitchener, the war minister.

"Get killed if you will," he is reported to have told the prince, "but none of you has considered what might happen if you were taken prisoner."

It was obvious that if the heir to the throne were a prisoner it would offer tremendous opportunities for the Germans to propose "a deal" and ultimately would greatly influence the terms of peace.

Before the war was over the Prince of Wales had a narrow escape. His automobile was wrecked by a German shell. He was even nearer the front lines than his car.

Middle age, marriage and a major general's duties will restrain the Duke of Windsor from pleading again for a chance to "go over the top."

But on the other hand, the British government is less concerned, politically and practically, over his fate than when he was Prince of Wales.

The government has accepted his services, as it did in the last war, because the sight of him at the front will hearten the rank and file of tommies. But he is still the fly in the ointment in the plan to make George VI the idol of his subjects—still an embarrassing reminder of a king who placed a personal love affair above an Englishman's conception of duty.

Lafayette village took its black-out practice without air raid warnings. A power line failed, and for several hours residents depended on candlelights while State Trooper Charles Mink directed traffic at a Cherry Valley intersection with red flares.

THE WAR'S NEW NERVE CENTER—ESTONIA

The possibility that Russia was demanding drastic maritime rights in Estonia, her small neighbor on the Baltic Sea, loomed after a Soviet communique said Estonia had given an "unsatisfactory" explanation for the escape of an interned Polish submarine from the port of Tallinn, shown above. Tallinn is capital and largest seaport of Estonia, and residents were worried by the appearance of what they believed to be Russian war planes over the city.

Dr. Keator Named To Head Campaign For Scouts' Fund

At a recent meeting of the executive board of the Ulster-Greene Council, Boy Scouts, Dr. H. W. Keator was unanimously chosen to again head the work of the annual finance campaign. The fine work Dr. Keator has been doing as president of the council during the past year, and the fact that he served so successfully as chairman of the 1938 campaign, prompted his election.

In accepting the chairmanship Dr. Keator said that he was glad to do so, as he felt assured of the whole-hearted cooperation of the more than 800 volunteer workers connected with the organization, as well as the continued support of the people of Ulster and Greene counties who have contributed to the movement.

Commenting on the needs of the council, General Chairman Keator expressed his pleasure at finding that since the last campaign, in October, 1938, the council had grown from 45 troops and 812 scouts to 48 troops and 907 scouts. This is the largest growth over a period of a year that the council has ever had.

Dr. Keator went on to say: "I am proud to say that during the past year we have operated the council on $7,000 and paid over $1,000 on our indebtedness. The budget adopted for the coming year calls for an operating budget of $7,500 and a payment of $1,700 on our indebtedness, making our objective for this fall $9,000."

"The success which we have been able to report is due in large part to the fine work done by the volunteers in the seven districts. One need not alone finance, but, if we are to reach two out of every four boys of scout age who desire to become scouts, we will have to enroll more adults to serve these boys."

Dr. Keator added further, that with world conditions as they are today every person in these United States realizes the need for training of youth in wholesome activities, for as the youth are trained so will they conduct the government. The Boy Scouts of America have set as a goal one out of every four boys a four-year scout, trained for citizenship. With over 1,000,000 boys now enrolled these young citizens will be presented to the country trained for leadership in the problems of tomorrow.

The general chairman and members of his committee are now securing the district and local chairmen for the two counties. They will be ready to start the campaign on October 9 in the six outside districts and on October 16 in the Kingston district.

"I dreaded living alone—until we thought of the 'phone"

... Based on an actual letter to MARTHA DEAN, Famous Radio Personality

1 "I was confronted with a trying situation when my husband's company assigned him to a new sales territory in the middlewest."

2 "What a change this meant! Every time he went on a selling trip he was away from home for days and days."

3 "We were both terribly lonely, miles away from each other—until my sister suggested the telephone."

4 "And although my husband is actually far away, it doesn't seem far, because he telephones me often."

WHEN someone you care about lives too far off to see in person—you can still keep close by telephone. There's nothing like it for remembering anniversaries, birthdays and the like. Or when you want to get or give news. Or when you're just plain lonesome.

To make it even more attractive, rates are low—even if you can't take advantage of the greatly reduced Long Distance rates to most places every night after 7 and all day every Sunday. New York Telephone Co.

Newburgh Gives Support to Move

Commenting on the dinner meeting to be held in Kingston on October 4, at the invitation of Mayor C. J. Ileselman, for the purpose of forming a West Side of the Hudson Association, the Newburgh News says editorially:

To Publicize the West Shore

It is hoped that Newburgh will be well represented at the meeting in Kingston on Wednesday of next week for organization of a west shore association to publicize this region and attract tourist travel. We have been in need of such an association for years.

To what extent west shore villages will be represented is not known. If, however, Kingston and Newburgh get things going, as they are well able to do, there is no doubt that the smaller towns will join in, making it a representative organization.

The movement is of interest to every hotel, restaurant, service, garage, tourist-house, and store owner in all the area from George Washington bridge on the south to Albany on the north. It is purposed to exert concerted effort for travel and exploit the scenic and historic attractions all through this region. Booklets made by the association and other things done to build up traffic which in the course of a season might mean hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of additional business.

Sailors Say They Saw Ship
Copenhagen, Sept. 28 (AP)—An other report that the missing German liner Bremen was up at a Soviet Russian Arctic port was received here today. The newspaper Ekstrabladet in Copenhagen reported seeing the Bremen at Murmansk when the ship stopped there for cargo. The captain of the Kurestar denied to comment. (Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, told the House of Commons yesterday the $20,000,000 liner, which left New York August 30, "is believed to be in a north Russian port.")

A severe wind and hail storm failed to fluster a mother hen nesting in a bushel basket on Kurestar's farm, Newfane, N. Y. She went right ahead and hatched 10 baby chicks of a nest of 11 eggs.

INJUNCTION TO STOP THE WEDDING

Richard F. Engels, 23, and Miss Emma F. Preble, 28, (above) were all set to get married, but when they filed their intention to wed at Boston, Richard's father went into court and got an injunction stopping the ceremony. Engels was able to get the court order because he was named Richard's guardian previously when the son was adjudged a "spendthrift." Now the couple is enjoined from getting married anywhere in Massachusetts.

Ingenious Timepiece Does Full Day's Work

Clock-making is an ancient art and the world has enough remarkable timepieces to fill a museum, but none of these ingenious recorders of the passing hours is quite like an ultra-modern clock recently completed by Herr David Olsson, a Swiss mechanic.

Among other jobs this clock wakes its maker with a system of lights that flash in his eyes and a recorded selection of soft and inspiring music. Before this soothing alarm "goes off," however, the home-made timepiece has performed several other important domestic chores—it has turned on the gas stove, boiled a couple of eggs and brewed a pot of coffee.

The Swiss mechanic worked out the plans for his ultra-modern clock several years ago and built it himself in his spare time. It is such a clever achievement that some of the master watchmakers of the mountain republic have dropped into the Olsson home to see the complicated device.

Besides being a waker-upper and a cook, the clock—which is driven by electricity—tells Standard Time and Solar Time. It records the phases of the moon and other astronomical phenomena.

The clock has a cleverly built-in radio receiver which can be turned on and off at any desired time, all by mechanical settings.

Strangely enough, Olsson is extremely modest about his incredible clock. He believes that some of his countrymen would have turned out something as unusual a long time ago if the principle of the electric clock had been known in their day.

Scientist Urges Pooling

Research Observations

Many of the future major scientific advances will be made in borderline sciences and the men who make them must be masters of two or more fields of knowledge, in the opinion of Dr. Caryl P. Haskins, famed bio-physicist.

Dr. Haskins believes there is evidence to indicate that "some of the greatest advances to be made in science will be in the so-called borderline fields of science, such as those between mathematics and physics and chemistry, where the advances already have been great, or between biology and all three, where the ground is almost unbroken."

He said that modern chemists, physicists, biologists and other scientists can and must be more versatile than in the past if they are to make the new discoveries.

"If Faderewski could be at once creative musician and creative statesman, and H. G. Wells at once biologist and famous author, so can other men cross fields of knowledge while refusing to sacrifice quality in any branch, and it will be their business to do it."

In borderline fields where pioneering is necessary, Dr. Haskins suggested formation of highly co-operative and co-ordinated groups of specialists, each group being permitted to use knowledge of the others for new creative work.

Tolstoi's Environment

Tolstoi, the great Russian novelist, came from a family that belonged to the old Russian nobility and he received every advantage of cultured environment. Educated by French tutors and at the University of Kazan, he gradually cultivated a contempt for academic learning. In later years he renounced a life of ease and for 10 years labored in the fields as an ordinary workman. He refused money for his writing, subsisting on what he earned by farming and making shoes, and associated almost entirely with the peasants.

Judge Charles I. Dawson of Louisville was forced to send his car out for repairs because a pet ram saw its reflection on the shiny doors and battered it into wrinkles.

MODES of the MOMENT

Turbans are going to be worn with many a smart afternoon frock this winter. Walter Florell does this pair. The top one, draped to two suave points, is done in Indian silk. The other, of dark blue and "wet grass" green velvet has a deep skull-cap back that extends almost to the nape of the neck and is finished with a great choul on top.

It Is Unbelievable!

"At our wedding last Friday we received so many and such beautiful and useful gifts that it would be impossible for us to acknowledge all these fine gifts. We are therefore taking this means of saying many thanks to all who attended our wedding. Again we say thanks for everything. Mr. and Mrs. A—Z."

The paragraph just quoted was sent me by a reader who asked me to print my opinion of its propriety. There is little to say further than that it is actually a clipping cut from a newspaper. If part of the page had not been around it, I couldn't have believed it genuine. I'm sorry that this opinion is given too late to advise the many who sent "such beautiful and useful gifts" to find some way of asking that they be returned to their givers, who surely must regret the kind impulse which prompted their sending. But at least I can tell other prospective brides and grooms that this is not the polite way to say "Thank you" for anything!

Using Dollies in the Living-Room

Dear Mrs. Post: I read in a recent article your suggestion about using dollies under lamps and vases on tables. You suggested small squares of Chinese brocade or very fine needlepoint. Up to this time, I have been using crocheted pieces which I made myself, on my tables and on chair backs. I thought of making new ones for this winter, but I like the idea of needle-point dollies for under lamps, as my tables are very good and I would hate to scratch them. Will you tell me something about their design? And if I put needlepoint on the tables, what would you advise me to use in the way of material for chairbacks to go with them? And would a small lace and embroidered linen centerpiece be suitable as a cover for a dining-room table?

Answer: Any little vase or molding design for a border with a plain center (which is covered by the lamp) would be suitable. You might quite possibly make your chair and arm backs of the material with which each chair is covered, with a fringe to go around it. Or if your room is at all Victorian, embroidery or lace—such as fillet—looks well. If ten white for your room, you can tint it ecru or cream, or grey.

On the dining room table, the centerpiece you suggest would be all right, or a small square of Chinese brocade, which seemingly looks well everywhere. At the same time, I should perhaps add that in the fashion of today, the center decoration of silver or glass or china or whatever you use on your dinner table, is left standing on the otherwise bare table throughout the day.

Handsome draperies—that bring to your living-room the richness and color of autumn!

Smart and new—and simple to make—is the valance striped in leaf brown and rust-red.

The wide draperies and cascades are of plain rust-red, while the linings of the cascades are of the same striped material as the valance.

For the valance, cut two straight pieces of material and baste in rich folds. Take one end of each piece to a valance board, then after draping pieces back in swag effect, fasten other ends to window frame.

fold as shown in diagram—and tack to valance board.

The side draperies, which hang on a rod beneath the valance board, fall in graceful folds if you make French headings for them—which you can easily do with simple directions.

Our 32-page booklet gives step-by-step instructions for cutting and sewing attractive styles in valance, draperies, glass curtains, drapery curtains. ## Legion Auxiliary Elects President

Chicago, Sept. 28 (AP).—Mrs. William H. Corwith, Rockville Center, New York, was elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary today.

Both Mrs. Myron C. Miller, Anthony, Kas., and Mrs. Ernest A. Ravey, Shaker Heights, Ohio, withdrew and Mrs. Corwith was elected without opposition.

The five divisional vice presidents selected were: East—Mrs. J. B. Gilbert, Norwich, Conn.; Central—Mrs. Lawrence Smith, Racine, Wis.; South—Mrs. W. Harris, Bishopville, S. C.; Northwest—Mrs. G. E. Chambers, Put Bank, Mont.; West—Mrs. A. Mathebat, Alameda, Calif.

The new president was born in Hillsdale, N. Y., in 1898, and taught in New York schools until her marriage. She became a charter member of her local unit in 1926 and has been active in the auxiliary since.

She is most widely known for her activities in the development and expansion of the auxiliary's new broadcasting activities. In 1934 she was elected a department president and the following year was named New York department president.

Resolutions endorsing the American Legion's stand on neutrality and its action in withdrawing from Fidal, the international organization of World War Veterans of the Allied Armies, were adopted unanimously.

he recently proclaimed a state of national emergency.

Vandenberg's Proposal

The resolution asking the information was proposed by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.). Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky commented that he had no objection and thought the information might prove helpful to the Senate in its consideration of neutrality legislation.

The resolution also requested the attorney general to inform the Senate what other extraordinary powers, if any, were made available to the President under existing statute in emergency or state of war.

Senator Clark (D-Mo.) offered a resolution calling for the establishment of a seven-man Senate committee to investigate "all persons or firms" acting for foreign governments and using propaganda or other means in an effort to effect "a change in the neutral position of the United States."

At the request of Barkley, the resolution was referred to the foreign relations committee, of which Clark is a member.

The Senate adjourned until Monday after a 12-minute session.

Financial and Commercial

More Price Rises, Production Gains

More price rises, new records in production and a hint from Great Britain as to the immense cost of war featured news in the business and industrial world yesterday.

From Boston comes the news that leading worsted manufacturers have for the third time since outbreak of the European war raised prices. The present advance is 10 to 20 cents a yard, previous raises having been 25 and 15 cents, a total to date of from 50 to 60 cents a yard. Mill men expect a fourth advance, of 10 cents, unless a larger supply of Australian and South African fine wools is forthcoming.

Domestic sizes of anthracite coal were raised 15 to 30 cents a ton yesterday by major anthracite producers. New prices: Broken, egg and nut sizes, $5.15 a ton; stove, $5.30; pea, $4.15. A further increase next month is possible. Production of bituminous coal is being held back in some sections because of railroad car shortages.

Meanwhile leading shoe manufacturers is quoted as predicting a rise of at least 15 per cent in the wholesale price of shoes in the near future, due to advance in raw material costs.

Steel manufacturers are discussing ways to halt the advance in steel scrap price, which has gone up $6 to $6.50 a ton at Pittsburgh since September 1. Fear a forced rise in the price of steel products which is not justified by supply and demand. The use of old bessemer furnaces to make synthetic scrap is suggested; another idea is to put an embargo on exports of scrap on the ground that it is a material necessary to national defense.

For the second consecutive week electric output in the U. S. scored a new high record, reflecting business upturn.

Arthur A. Ballantine, former undersecretary of the treasury, warned bankers yesterday that Federal finances are in a considerably less favorable position than when we entered the World War. He argued that the current upturn in business activity should be utilized as an opportunity for strengthening the financial position of the Federal government and to end the deficit financing which has prevailed in recent years.

Volume on the Stock Exchange yesterday was best since September 13, 2,345,000 shares. Industrial weakness and showed a loss for the day of 46 point, to 153.08 in the Dow-Jones averages. Rails opened strong, but closed well under the best levels of the day, for a net gain of 17 point, to 35.90. Utilities attracted more attention and advanced 42 point, to 25.28. New highs were made by 98 stocks, new lows by four.

Commodities were mixed, the index closing off 29 point. Cotton gained three to ten points. Wheat closed as much as 1½ cent a bushel lower at Chicago. Hides declined nearly half a cent a pound, making some recovery later. World sugar figures made brisk advances. There were reports of heavy sales of Cuban sugar to foreign countries during the past few weeks. There was heavy selling in cottonseed oil futures.

London market closed generally firm and industrial and rail averages were up. Weak tone characterized Amsterdam market with trading inactive. Share prices on the Tokyo Exchange weakened as there were fears of tighter government control.

There are further reports of rail equipment buying and makers of locomotives see a buying movement getting under way, with possibly orders for 100 additional engines by end of the year.

Minnie the Moocher
Minnie the Moocher is the most famous deer in the woods of Wisconsin, says the National Wildlife Federation. After a poacher had killed her mother, Minnie was rescued from starvation by a game warden and brought to the cabin of Walter Sebastian, caretaker at warden headquarters near Argonne. In fly-time, Minnie sleeps in the cabin, on a bed preferably. She helps herself to all sorts of groceries. She has raised fawns of her own every year, and now, at the age of nine, is the mother of triplets. Her offspring are also a bit tame for the comfort and convenience of the wardens, helping themselves to everything a deer likes, from cigarettes to pancakes.

Fair Exchange
What Farmer Max Bachum really wanted by mail order 25 years ago was a shotgun. What he got was a wife. Trouble was Bachum wrote two letters, one to his sweetheart, the other to a Chicago firm, ordering a shotgun. He put them in the wrong envelopes. His sweetheart got the order for a shotgun, the Chicago mail order house got his billet doux, where a girl clerk read it, started a correspondence that ended in matrimony. But it turned out happily. While Bachum never got his shotgun, he blissfully celebrated his silver wedding anniversary recently on a farm near Weatherford, Okla.

Opossum Hunt
Mrs. Mark Henderson, 60, who lives on an Illinois farm, heard a hen squall as she went out to put up her chickens the other night. Investigating by lantern, the farm woman discovered an opossum dragging a hen under the shed. Returning to the house, Mrs. Henderson obtained a rifle, came back to the barn and found the opossum playing "dead." She shot it and then found it was carrying seven young in its pouch.

Two Lights for One
The trend toward use of two panes of glass instead of one has brought added safety on the highway and greater comfort in the home. Automobile safety glass is made by sandwiching a plastic filler between two panes. Window conditioning of residences, gaining in popularity because it saves 20 to 30 per cent in coal bills, is accomplished by use of two panes with captive air space between.

Coroner Prevents Removal of Body

The body of Frank Pinkosz is being held in Albion for further identification before it is sent to Kingston, James M. Murphy, local undertaker, announced today.

Funeral arrangements cannot be completed, and previous plans for burial here had to be cancelled, he told The Freeman today, because of an order from the Orleans coroner's office.

The body of Pinkosz, found Tuesday in the Erie canal, was identified by the captain of the John F. Cunningham tug, Constance, from New York city, and plans were made to remove it to the James M. Murphy Funeral Home, Kingston.

Following the identification, Orleans authorities decided that all of the crew members on the Constance would have to see the body and verify the decision of the captain before permission would be given to remove it to Kingston.

Pinkosz, who resided at 135 Hunter street, had been missing since last Friday from the tug, which completed its journey through the Barge canal to Buffalo after he had been reported absent at Albion.

When the body was found in the canal, the captain returned from Buffalo to identify it and said it was that of his friend, Pinkosz. However, the coroner held up his permit to remove it to Kingston until he had interviewed the rest of the crew and let them examine the corpse.

Pinkosz, who was 31, was a son of the late George Pinkosz, and is survived by his mother, Mrs. Jennie Setera Pinkosz; four brothers, Michael, of New York, Stephen, of Philadelphia and John and Joseph Pinkosz of this city; and three sisters, Mrs. William Miller of New York, Miss Rose Pinkosz of New York and Miss Mary Pinkosz at home.

When the body arrives in Kingston the funeral will be held from the J. M. Murphy Funeral Home on Broadway, with a high Mass of requiem in Immaculate Conception Church. Burial will be in Mt. Calvary Cemetery.
